Bingo Policing By Liquor Unit May Be Asked

Governor's Bill Being Prepared After Unicam Upholds Veto

Gov. Ralph Brooks' new bingo bill, yet to be introduced, may call for state enforcement through the State Liquor Control Commission.

The new bill has not yet been drafted, Administrative Assistant Robert Conrad said, but he added the governor's office would "make every effort" to present a bill to be drafted "this week" following conferences with veterans organizations and senators about the proposed bill.

The Legislature Monday by a 19-22 vote upheld the governor's veto of LB86, which would have legalized the games but which the governor said was deficient in law-enforcement provisions. (See story on Page 8.)

The liquor agency will be considered as a possible enforcement unit, Conrad said. However, responsibility for enforcement is likely to be placed with the secretary of state, he noted.

Amendments to vetoed LB86 submitted by the governor's office had placed responsibility for setting rules and regulations with the secretary of state's office.

Further, the office was authorized to call upon any state law officer to enforce those rules.

The amendments—8 of them—offered by the governor's office to change LB86 were never considered by the Legislature.

"Restrictions Needed" Meanwhile, drafters of the original bingo legislation expressed opinions Monday that additional restrictions are needed to control the game, and hopes that Gov. Ralph Brooks alternative measure will include additional safeguards.

The Rev. Carroll Lemon, executive secretary of the Lincoln Council of Churches and one of those who aided in drafting bingo legislation, called the vetoed LB86 "desirable as far as it went" but agreed with the governor's opinion that state enforcement was needed.

"We have always insisted that the greatest deficiencies in the legislation as passed

Probe Agreed

Washington (AP)—A House Armed Services subcommittee agreed to investigate government methods of buying privately owned housing on military posts.

Chairman George Huddleston Jr. (D-Ala.) said the group will begin its investigation early next month.

(LB86) are the lack of state control and the lack of provisions for county option," he said.

Lemon explained that although cities and towns have the right of option, counties do not, "which could open the way to games springing up in the outskirts and subverting the citizens."

Other provisions considered necessary, but not included in the bill which Brooks vetoed and the Legislature failed to override Monday, are the lack of a limit on the number of games and the low player age limit, which backers felt should be 21, but were willing to compromise at 18.

Lack of Limit Cited

Veterans of Foreign Wars officials also called the vetoed bill "inadequate" because of lack of a game limit per session, which was suggested at 20 games, and omission of a limit to the number of games which could be held during a week.

Convention Bill Killed

The bill authorizing a popular vote on a constitutional convention, LB606, was killed Monday by a 5-2 vote of the Legislature's Judiciary Committee.

Two other controversial measures—LB677, broadening access to public records, and LB467, establishing bad-check crimes as misdemeanors rather than felonies—were also axed in the committee's final scheduled meeting.

In other action, the committee amended the juvenile court bill, LB127, to provide that juvenile judges be paid by the county rather than the state and unanimously advanced it to the floor of the Legislature.

5 Bills OK'd

Five additional bills were advanced in the lengthy executive session, including the only measure heard Monday in public hearing—LB707, providing for appeal from assessments made by the state tax commissioner.

LB606, introduced by Sen. Fern Hubbard Orme of Lincoln, could muster but two votes on a motion to advance prior to the bill motion.

The measure called for a vote of the people in 1960 on (Continued on Page 2, Col. 4.)

Ike Asks A-Ban Below 30 Miles

President Appeals To Nikita On Atom-Test Suspension

Augusta, Ga. (AP)—President Eisenhower, striving to smash a deadlock, has appealed to Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev for a quick ban on nuclear weapons tests below 30 miles in the atmosphere.

In an April 13 letter to the Kremlin leader, Eisenhower said negotiators at the stalemate Geneva talks then could turn to further discussion looking toward a general ban on such tests. That would include detonations in outer space and underground.

"Meanwhile," said the President, "fears of unrestricted resumption of nuclear weapons testing with attendant additions to levels of radio-activity would be delayed."

Eisenhower alluded to Soviet demands for veto power and to other road-blocking Russian proposals, and again rejected them. At this time, he added, "no basis for (general) agreement is in sight."

Then, in an effort to salvage the Geneva talks from collapse, Eisenhower proposed a first-stage agreement—a ban on tests below 30 miles in the atmosphere.

Most Important

If there could be such initial agreement on what he termed the most important phase of the negotiations, the Geneva delegates who first met last October then could tackle the obstacles blocking a general ban.

Eisenhower's vacation headquarters made public his letter to Khrushchev after a Soviet official—apparently by accident—had disclosed its existence at Geneva earlier in the day.

"In my view," the President told Khrushchev, "these negotiations must not be permitted completely to fail."

Veto Power

Eisenhower noted that Russia has been insisting on an agreement with veto power over the fact-finding activities of a controls system regarding possible underground nuclear explosions. That insistence had been the heart of the deadlock.

If the Soviet Union intends to continue to stand pat on that point, Eisenhower went on, then:

"I believe there is a way in which we can hold fast to the progress already made in these negotiations and no longer delay in putting into effect the initial agreements which are in our grasp."

'Simplified'

Then the President proposed a restricted ban on tests in the atmosphere. Specifically he said:

"A simplified control system for atmospheric tests up to 50 kilometers (30 miles) could be readily derived from the Geneva experts report and would

Solons: Wait & See

New Changes In Assessment To Be Tried First

By Betty Pearson

Chances that any broadened tax base bills would be introduced in the 1959 Legislature appeared dim and remote Monday after the Revenue Committee voted 6-0 against bringing such legislation to the floor.

It was the committee's opinion that it would be "useless" to introduce sales and/or income tax bills this session because the Legislature "probably will want to wait and see the effect of new property tax laws," Sen. Norman Otto of Kearney, committee chairman, said.

Sen. Terry Carpenter of Scottsbluff, chief architect of the stringent property tax laws passed in the 1959 session, had told the Revenue Committee several weeks ago that he was preparing 5 bills which would search new avenues for means of raising additional revenue.

He had said he was preparing these bills for their consideration: a sales tax bill, an income tax measure, a combination sales-income tax bill, a measure to increase the state's cigarette tax by one cent, and a bill to double the taxes on alcoholic beverages.

Committee Opinion Asked

Carpenter then told the committee he would not give the bills to Jack Wilson, legislative bill drafter, unless they indicated they would see them through to introduction because they entailed a great deal of work and it was pointless to have so much effort involved if nothing would come from it.

Thus the Revenue Committee met in executive session Monday to consider the matter and the formal motion was made not to introduce the measures.

Spot checks made by members of the Tax Commissioner's office have indicated the state's property valuations will be considerably higher this year due to the strict laws which have been passed.

Hold Mill Levy

Gov. Ralph Brooks has said he believes it will be possible to keep the state's mill levy in check if the higher valuations hold true throughout the state.

Following the Revenue Committee action Monday, Sen. Carpenter told The Star he thought it was "best to let it ride" this year.

"The tax laws we've passed have been more far-reaching than anyone anticipated," the Scottsbluff senator said, adding that he thought it was a "good idea to see that the people first report their property as they should and then we can see what we have to work with."

—Senate Ends 4 Days Of Debate—

Labor Reform Test Is At Hand

Kennedy Sees 'Safe Margin'

Washington (UPI)—The Senate Monday wound up 4 days of debate on the controversial Kennedy-Ervin labor reform bill and prepared to start voting Tuesday on a stack of 130 proposed amendments.

Sen. John F. Kennedy (D-Mass.), the chief sponsor, predicted he had a "safe margin" of votes to defeat a key proposal offered by the measure's other sponsor, Sen. Sam J. Ervin (D-NC). Kennedy said he hoped for a final vote on the bill this week.

The Ervin amendment would knock out of the bill proposed changes in the Taft-Hartley law. Ervin's plan is supported by Chairman John L. McClellan (D-Ark.) of the Senate Rackets Committee and Sen. Barry Goldwater (R-Ariz.).

McClellan, a leader in the fight to write tough labor reform legislation, said the Taft-Hartley changes might water down present penalties for blackmail picketing. He said the Justice Department was "greatly concerned" about this possibility.

Goldwater, top Republican on the Senate Labor Committee, predicted the Senate would debate the bill "till the moon comes out at noontime" unless the Taft-Hartley revisions were stricken.

As debate drew to a close, Sen. Karl E. Mundt (R-SD), vice chairman of the Labor Committee, described the Kennedy-Ervin bill as "akin to the proverbial boy sent out to do a man's job." He urged approval of Ervin's amendment so the Senate could then make the bill a "realistic and effective" labor reform measure.

McClellan proposed the number of proposed amendments to 130 when he submitted 7 drawn from a stronger measure which he has introduced.

McClellan told the Senate that the Kennedy-Ervin bill

A glimpse of the sun Tuesday and temperature highs a few degrees above Monday was all the good news that weather forecasters had to offer most Nebraskans.

Subfreezing nighttime temperatures and daytime highs Tuesday the 40s brought little moderation of the chill which holds much of the Midwest in its grip.

Decreasing cloudiness is expected during Tuesday over much of Nebraska, with some warming in the central, north.

Weekend snows and rains left as much as 3.95 inches of moisture at Seward and light snow and rain fell throughout the state in scattered areas Monday. Western sections reported up to one-half inch of accumulation from Monday snows, with Grand Island and Omaha reporting traces of precipitation.

Starkweather's Commutation Hearing Before Board Today

Charles Starkweather will appear before two members of the State Pardon Board Tuesday morning and ask his death sentence be commuted to life imprisonment.

Gov. Ralph Brooks, who normally sits on the 3-member Board, is ill with the flu and will not be at the hearing.

So the decision on whether to let the death sentence of the 20-year-old mass killer stand will be made by Secretary of State Frank Marshall and Attorney General C. S. Beck. State law permits a majority to act on clemency decisions.

Persons both opposing and favoring clemency are expected to be heard at the hearing, which starts at 10 a.m. at the State Penitentiary.

A delegation of citizens from Bennet, Neb., is expected to appear in opposition to any commutation of Starkweather's sentence.

Three of the 10 victims of the January, 1958, murder spree of Starkweather and his girl friend, Carl Fugate, were from the Bennet area. Both Starkweather and Carl were convicted of first degree murder in the death of Robert Jensen, 17, of Bennet, Jan. 27, 1958.

Carl is now serving a life term at the York Women's Reformatory, but she has appealed the conviction to the State Supreme Court.

Starkweather's execution was originally set for last Dec. 17, but was stayed to allow in the State Supreme Court to consider his case. The high court subsequently refused to overturn his conviction, and reset his execution for March 27.

But Starkweather then asked the Pardon Board to hear his case. The Board agreed and thus the execution was again stayed.

If the Board denies his clemency request it will then set a new electrocution date. The Board is not expected to rule on Starkweather's request Tuesday, but probably will wait several days before announcing its decision.

Nine men have appeared before the Board since it was established in 1920 and asked for commutation of their death sentences. Five were denied and 4 received commutations to life imprisonment.

Last commutation was granted to Stanley Nowicki of Omaha in July, 1957. He had been convicted of his wife's murder.

The last time the Board denied a clemency request was in April, 1952, when it refused to commute the death sentence of Ronald Dean Sundahl, who had been convicted of murdering a 16-year-old girl near Columbus in 1950.

... Would Restrict Parking Along One-Way Pair Federal Aid K-L Pact Held Over By Council

By Virgil Falloon
The City Council held until next Monday a proposed federal-aid agreement with parking restrictions in connection with the improvement of K and L as a one-way pair.

City Engineer Carl Fisher said city plans for the K and L project from 22nd to 16th are now being processed by the State Highway Dept. for final approval and construction bids.

Under the proposed federal-aid agreement (50-50 matching funds), parking would be restricted on the south side of K (east bound) and the north side of L (west bound) and for 25 feet on the "approach side of driveways."

19 Driveways
Fisher said there are "19 driveways total for the segments of K and L affected. The approach restrictions are to insure that vehicles have enough space to back out and swing parallel to the curb without entering a moving traffic lane."

Council members voiced no objections to the parking restrictions, but directed that the city engineer go over the contract with City Atty. Ralph

Nelson before it is approved. One or two blocks have 3 driveways, which with the 25-foot parking ban, would limit available parking to about 5 stalls, Fisher said. The other blocks have fewer driveways. Fisher anticipated no problems from the proposed restrictions, but said he "wanted the Council to be advised of the agreement proposals."

48-Foot Streets
The K-L project with 48-foot wide streets providing 3 moving lanes and parking lane will provide a "L-street crossover" from Capitol Parkway east of 22nd.

Estimated cost is approximately $500,000. About a $150,000 "saving" was effected when a 48-foot rather than 60-foot wide streets were okayed by the Federal Bureau of Roads for the city project.

K and L would be the first widening and resurfacing project to be constructed under the city's $16.5 million street improvement program over the next 11 years.

Legislature 'Thumbed Nose At People' On Bingo—Beck

The Legislature "thumbed its nose at the people" when it voted to sustain Gov. Ralph Brooks bingo bill veto, Atty. Gen. C. S. Beck charged Monday.

Beck also had words for Brooks.

"It would seem that it is a sad day for Nebraska when the will of the voters, as manifested by their vote on the (bingo) constitutional amendment, can be thwarted by a willful act of a man who happens to occupy the office of governor and have that action sustained by a non-partisan Legislature," the attorney general told newsmen.

"No Way..."

lative committee despite enactment last fall of another constitutional amendment in which "the voters said they were disappointed with the Board."

As for the bingo amendment, "the fact that the people voted as they did indicates they want a change and they want it now."

"LB86 was a perfectly good bill... Now we have an experienced schoolman who by chance was elected governor. He puts on another cap... He knows about law enforcement now and vetoed the bill," Beck said.

"And the complacent Legislature went along with him."

Missing Boy, 5, Is Found Dead; Murder Possible

Detroit (AP) — A 5-year-old boy missing since his morning kindergarten class was found dead Monday night in the loft of a garage behind his home.

A preliminary police report said the cause of death was not established. But officers said they were investigating the possibility of murder.

The boy, Marvin Zdanowski, son of deaf mute parents, had been sought in an hours-long neighborhood search after disappearing following school attendance.

Marvin's body, fully clothed, was lodged far back in rafters of the garage, police said.

More than 100 police, including officers of the Youth Bureau and Women's Bureau, had sought the boy.

Marvin's mother, Mrs. Daniel Zdanowski, 32, reported him missing after a vain search of the neighborhood for him.

The garage is connected to the building where the Zdanowskis have an apartment. The father, 38, is a factory worker.

Godfrey Has Chest Tumor

New York (AP) — Arthur Godfrey said he will enter a New York hospital this week for examination of a chest tumor.

The CBS star submitted to X-rays last Thursday, following repeated chest pains.

"I thought it was indigestion," Godfrey said, "but the X-rays revealed a tumor. The doctors can't tell as yet whether it is benign or malignant."

He is taking leave from his broadcasting activities and left for his farm in Virginia, where he will do the remainder of this week's shows.

Godfrey said he will "sit on my horse and spend as much time as I can with the family before going to the hospital."

Goodwill Industries 'Floored'

The "do-it-yourself" craze has reached the ladies' auxiliary of the Goodwill Industries, and the women got the job done. New tile floors in the chapel and dining room of their building at 1717 O was bought and laid down by the auxiliary workers in a project which took almost a year. The costs—about $800—were covered by proceeds from the sale of clown dolls by the ladies. The labor, as shown here, was volunteer. Pictured (clockwise, from left) are Mrs. A. J. Rousch, Mrs. Hazel Hoagland, Mrs. Merle Whittington, Mrs. Marie Morgan and Mrs. Gretchen Gedwill. President of the group is Miss Mabel Clements. (Star Photo.)

Convention Bill Killed

The juvenile court bill, LB127, previously advanced to the floor, had been called back to the committee for the specific amendment attached Monday.

Other bills advanced: LB363, establishing the director of health as state coordinator of atomic energy, 7-0.

LB364, clarifying game and fish law provisions, 7-0.

LB482, providing a schedule for District Court clerk fees, 7-0.

LB359, providing that estates so bequeathed shall be under court supervision when administered by individual trustees, 5-2.

Gov. Ralph Brooks was among proponents who testified for the bill when it came before the committee for public hearing.

Constitutional convention bills have failed to receive approval of the Legislature at every session since 1947. The 1957 measure was killed on the floor, 19-13.

LB677, killed by a 5-2 vote, would have considerably broadened provisions for access to public records. It was chiefly sought by representatives of the press, radio and television.

The measure would have given statutory strength to free access to all public records except those expressly closed to examination by other statutes.

LB467, introduced by Sens. Joe Vosoba of Wilber, David Tews of Norfolk and Arnold Ruhnke of Plymouth, fell by a 5-1 margin.

Payment of a bad check by a person so charged before arraignment would have discharged the person from criminal liability under terms of the bill.

As originally drawn, payment could have been made through sheriffs and police chiefs.

Fine, Jail Terms
Conviction of a bad-check offense would have resulted in penalties of a fine not to exceed $500 and imprisonment in the county jail not to exceed 6 months, or both.

Presently, conviction results in imprisonment in the Penitentiary from one to 10 years, imprisonment in the county jail from 30 days to 6 months, or fines from $50 to

Heavy Tax Penalty Now State Law

Heavy penalties for failure to report property for taxation are now in effect as a result of Gov. Ralph Brooks' action in signing LB51 into law.

The bill provides that tangible property not reported is subject to addition of 7% interest from the date the report was due, plus a penalty of 50%. It carried the emergency clause.

Intangible property would be taxed at the intangible rate plus the tangible rate for failure to report.

Penalties are in effect from 1959 forward, and do not apply for past failure to report. They may be halved in cases where the taxpayer can prove he did not intentionally fail to report property.

Herter To Travel Far Less Than Dulles Did

Washington (AP) — Christian A. Herter took command of the State Department Monday with a pledge to rely on teamwork rather than personal diplomacy.

The 64-year-old New Englander strongly implied he would do far less traveling than the cancer-stricken John Foster Dulles did when he was well.

"I will travel if I feel it is necessary to travel," Herter said. "But, as you know, I have always been a pretty strong teamworker, and I have got very great pride in my associates in the department."

Raise-Bill Attempt Not Likely—Orme

Sen. Fern Hubbard Orme of Lincoln said Monday she doubted that she would attempt to raise her constitutional convention bill on the floor of the Legislature.

The measure, LB606, was killed earlier in the day by a 5-2 vote of the Judiciary Committee.

Twenty-two votes are required to raise a bill on the floor within 3 days. Otherwise, 26 votes are required.

Sen. Orme, introducer of the bill, said she was "extremely sorry" that the measure was not allowed to receive full debate of the 43-member body.

"It is extremely important, I think," she said, "that in denying the people the right to determine whether or not they want a constitutional convention, they are being denied a right to a thorough knowledge of the existing problems."

"The people of Nebraska are an alert and intelligent people. They would understand the problems and issues if this Legislature would let them."

Garbage Haulers Plan 25c-50c Hike May 1

Most Lincoln garbage haulers are increasing their residential rates by 25 to 50 cents per month effective May 1, a United Garbage Haulers Association spokesman said Monday.

The spokesman said that members, who have been charging $1.50 per month for a single-family residence with two stops per week, would go to $1.75 or $2.

The amount will be up to the individual operator, who will notify his customers, the spokesman said.

Some haulers, who are now charging $1.25 per month, are expected to go to $1.50, he added.

'Slow Down' Signal Seen For Brooks

Upshot of the hospitalization of Gov. Ralph Brooks is expected to be doctors' orders to slow down.

Administrative Assistant Robert Conrad said Monday the governor would cut his speaking schedule pace when he returns to the office.

Brooks, hospitalized last Friday night, was "feeling fine" Monday, Conrad reported.

The governor continued to undergo "routine tests," his aide said. Conrad said he didn't know just what the tests involved or their results.

Brooks will continue his stay at Lincoln General Hospital "a few more days," Conrad estimated.

Hospitalization resulted from "a slight case of flu," the aide told newsmen.

West Berlin Reassured By Britain

London (AP)—Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd told West Berlin Mayor Willy Brandt Monday that Britain stands firmly on her position of resisting the Russian demands that West Berlin be made a demilitarized free city.

A foreign office spokesman, reporting on a 75-minute talk between Lloyd and Brandt, said the mayor

"expressed thanks for the support given by her majesty's government and the people of Great Britain to the West Berliners." Lloyd was understood to have stressed that Britain has no intention of withdrawing her troops from West Berlin and stands firmly on her rights to remain there.

New Statute Favored

In exchanges with the American, French and West German governments, the British have urged, however, that the Allies seek to negotiate a new Berlin statute with the Russians—a statute that would spell out Allied rights of access to the city. The British attitude is that a new agreement would strengthen rather than weaken the Allied position in Berlin. Existing Allied rights flowed from the conquest of Germany 14 years ago.

The 4 powers meantime have agreed to undertake a new airlift to maintain their garrisons in West Berlin if this should become necessary.

Lloyd presumably made Brandt aware that the Allies have for the time being ruled against trying to send an armed convoy overland from West Germany into West Berlin.

Stidworthy Will Appeal Dismissed

Litigation seeking an accounting of funds of the Buckwalter-Stidworthy Co. and the Alice Stidworthy estate has been dismissed in Lancaster District Court.

The actions were brought against Mrs. Ada S. Westover by Mrs. Margaret S. Coryell of Lincoln and Mrs. Helen S. Kerr of Louisville, Ky. All are daughters of the late Mrs. Stidworthy. The probate of Mrs. Stidworthy's will was appealed.

The Monday action was on motion of the plaintiffs and occurred as trial was scheduled to begin in the suits, which had been consolidated for purpose of trial.

Suits Ask $130,000 Damages From Ex-Star Novak

Damage suits totalling $130,000 were filed against former University of Nebraska football star Tom Novak in Lancaster District Court Monday in connection with a New Year's Eve accident near 48th and Cornhusker.

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Gideon of 5110 Hartley filed suits on behalf of themselves and their daughter, Michelle, against Novak, who lives at 3500 No. 60th. They allege Novak was driver of a car which was in collision with one driven by Joe Gideon.

All 3 members of the Gideon family allege they were injured in the mishap, which occurred about 6:30 p.m. Dec. 31.

Mayor Proposes 'Town Hall' Meeting Once Each Month

Mayor Bennett S. Martin proposed Monday that a "town hall" meeting to be held one evening each month so that Lincolniters can "present questions that pertain to their particular section of the city of the overall programming for Lincoln."

The meeting, which would be regularly held one day each month from 7 to 10 p.m., would be attended by the mayor, the directors and certain department heads, and council members, Martin explained.

"Since being elected mayor," Martin said, "I have thought many times how a program could be worked out where the mayor and council could work more closely with all the people of Lincoln. These meetings would be comparable to what we know as a 'town hall' meeting."

'Special Opportunity'

The regular Council meetings on Monday afternoon would be continued, but Martin explained, the special evening meeting each month would give people an opportunity to ask questions and present their views.

"Many people cannot attend afternoon meetings because they are working," he said. "Also, much of the time must be devoted to zoning matters, ordinances, contracts, and other business."

Martin told newsmen he hasn't determined a starting date for the evening meetings. "It will depend somewhat on the reaction to my proposal."

Martin indicated that the directors had informally okayed the suggested meetings. However, Martin's proposal was not discussed with the Council members at the regular Monday meeting.

"If these meetings are successful and worthwhile," Martin said, "we might even have two evening meetings a month."

Martin, who is seeking a second term as mayor, noted he started a practice of having the Council and key city officials "meet at least once a month and tour certain sections of the city where matters were pending before the Council."

But most of all they watched the clowns—particularly "Slivers" Johnson who came into the arena driving a hot rod which always exploded at in opportune moments. A clown boxing match also kept the crowd in a laughing mood.

A highlight of the show which runs through Saturday is "Serenade", an Arabian musical horse which has appeared on the Ed Sullivan television show on 5 different occasions.

Other highlights include: Wong Troupe, a Chinese acrobat team; Carlyle Troupe, an English teeter-board act; Rodriguez bar act; LaTosca bounding rope act; Jeananne MacGill, woman wild animal act; Hartzel Family, flying trapeze act; The Great Mario's, a revolving ladder act and the "College of Chimps."

Plenty of Animals

And, of course, there are the elephants, camels, dogs, horses and even two llamas to keep things going.

The show also features spectaculars such as Story Book Land, Mardi Gras, Blue Moon and China Doll.

The 3-ring circus will have a 2:30 p.m. matinee through Friday with a 1 p.m. and 3 p.m. matinee on Saturday. An 8:15 p.m. performance is scheduled each night.

No Fugate New Trial Hearing Set

No hearing on Atty. John McArthur's request for a new murder trial for Carl Ann Fugate has as yet been scheduled.

McArthur filed the request in Lancaster District Court Apr. 8, and backed it up with affidavits from a former State Penitentiary guard and two former Penitentiary inmates who allege that the key prosecution witness against Carl—Charles Stark-weather—was promised he would not be electrocuted if he testified falsely against the 15-year-old girl.

An earlier new trial request for Carl, who was convicted of first degree murder last November, was denied by Judge Harry A. Spencer, who will also rule on the latest request. Carl is now serving a life term at the York Women's Reformatory.

Loud Clash Of Symbols

By WILLIAM O. DOBLER

In his appearance in Washington, Fidel Castro, Cuba's revolutionary hero, placed a great deal of emphasis upon the value of a free press. There is still some question, however, of just how free the press is in Cuba today. It is becoming more open in discussion of the Castro regime but is still reported to be conservative in its approach to daily problems and issues.

Just how important is a free press? The cab drivers in Washington know something about anything you want to ask them and generally have an opinion on all major issues of the day. One cabbie told of being asked by a group of Cubans what he thought of Castro. The cabbie said he told them he didn't know what to think. In America, he reminded them, the newspapers say what they think about public officials and the people can then make up their own minds. No one in America, he said, will be able to have an opinion on Castro until the Cuban newspapers start discussing his program with honesty.

We tipped the cabbie 50 cents, but not because of his high regard for freedom of the press. He also told about how generous Ted Williams was and that Williams, contrary to the opinion of the Boston press, was the nicest guy in baseball. Williams, we learned, never tipped less than 50 cents.

It turns out, also, that the gayest guys and the biggest spenders as a group were the old St. Louis Browns. Generally last in their league and a club with no financial backing, the Browns were still the best sports. They were big tipsters. But that's generally the way it is and it may or may not explain why the Browns were always on the bottom.

The cab driver shared with a lot of other people a peculiar opinion in regard to Castro's dress. For some reason or other, the fatigues, beards and long hair worn by Castro and his aides are disturbing elements. They have been viewed as signs that the revolutionary movement will continue to bring about the execution of many former Batista people.

From what Castro has said, there can be little doubt that more former Batista followers will be executed. He has stated, however, that civilian courts will be established within a few weeks and former Batista aides accused of murder will be tried by these new courts. This would be an improvement, even if not an entirely satisfactory solution.

But the uniform and appearance of the revolutionaries have nothing to do with all of this. It would seem natural for Castro to wear the garb and maintain the appearance that stand for freedom and deliverance from tyranny in the minds of the Cuban people.

Washington should be the last place in which symbolism is condemned. Hardly a place can be found in Washington where there is not a monument to some great figure of the past or some significant event. Atmosphere is important in almost every private and public institution in Washington.

One of the most interesting places in the heart of downtown Washington is the National Housing Center Building, home of the National Association of Home Builders. Currently on display on the fourth floor is an interesting and entertaining assortment of cartoons, mostly of the political variety. Of particular note is a section devoted to cartoons done by public officials, usually the objects of criticism in such mediums. By far the most successful and best of this lot is a slam at the cartoonists themselves done by Secretary of Interior Fred Seaton, former Nebraska newspaper man.

Seaton, incidentally, is mentioned in many circles in Washington for just about every big job that opens up there. His was one of the names tossed out by some people for secretary of state. Considering everything, he would probably be voted the most popular public official in the nation's capital. But the Housing Center doesn't emphasize politics. It is a fascinating show, however, of all the latest things in home construction, both interior and exterior.

Turn About Is Fair Play

The Most Needed Thing

Directors of the Associated Press, quite out of breath and disheveled from the hot pursuit of news, took a few moments off for the annual meeting to declare that 1958 provided the biggest challenge of world events since World War II.

They ticked off the varying flareups in the cold war, the political revolution in France, the conquest of outer space together with critical blowups in Iraq, Lebanon, Quemoy, Tibet and Cuba.

If there is anyone nowadays who needs an international credit card and a universal passport it is the world news man. The world is apt to blow its lid anywhere between the two poles, and one must get there quickly.

There was a time when an election of a president or the final score on pending tariff legislation just about called the roll on the needed geopolitical assignments. The whole subject of economics revolved around how big was a billion dollars if laid end to end, the moral being the world would collapse, bells would ring, and all life would quickly expend itself if that much in taxes ever made a public appearance. Suffice to say that none of those things would have prompted an early end. But any one of the multiplicity of world crises today could conceivably turn this earth into a clinker.

The AP can justifiably point with pride at the on-the-spot, day-to-day reporting of these earth shaking events. But the pace is a little fast for the average reader. He has more colored tacks than he has map, and a box full of colored tacks doesn't always make sense.

What the news needs today is a summarization, a dependable summarization, of where we are in this spinning tornado where everything is going round and round. The phenomenon is not exactly new, but in the past there always has been a summarizer, a Washington, Jefferson, Jackson or an Abe Lincoln. They took counsel with the confusion of change and restated the social contract in clear, simple and guiding terms. That's why we survived.

Election Steam Generating

There can be little doubt that the current campaign for mayor of Lincoln will be an interesting one. By the time Tuesday's May 5 election rolls around, voters should have several things on which to make a decision between Mayor Bennett Martin and his opponent, Bartlett E. (Pat) Boyles.

Both men, Boyles a little more emphatically, have expressed dissatisfaction with the Lincoln Airport Authority. Boyles opposes the independent agency altogether, which is not at all a bad idea, and Martin has objected to the group's hiring of expert advice. Both candidates will probably advocate economy and efficiency in government.

Unfortunately, the economy pitch is really not too important. No one could be mayor of Lincoln without practicing economy unless he wanted to lead the city into bankruptcy. Certainly, neither of the two candidates in this race would do that.

Half Told Story

Governor Ralph G. Brooks' veto of the bingo bill survived the legislature's counter attack and momentarily legalized bingo is back where it started.

The effort to override the veto lacked seven votes. That is to say, 26 were needed, 19 were polled. Actually 22 legislators voted to sustain the governor.

It was a stormy experience for the legislature in which critics of the governor charged him with pulling a political fast one, coldly moving to strengthen his political party at the expense of a popular referendum and legislative action. Some saw in it a move to reject the public mandate altogether. One senator deplored the loss of the bill. A more fair interpretation of it, he asserted, would have convinced the public that it had successfully blocked big time, predatory gambling. He said that editors had not taken sufficient note of the provision that only non-profit organizations could obtain a license. The senator was on infirm ground. Editors have taken note of the fact that a non-profit organization enjoys certain immunities in law and while it cannot make a profit, its employees can earn pleasing incomes. Organized gambling, is not choosy about corporate structure so long as it gets the money.

But the general issue at this stage is not resolved. And legislative criticism will stand or fall by future acts. The governor has promised a new bill. Its content will express his real intentions. The legislature then again will have its day in court. A dependable public judgment cannot be made until this drama is played to the finish. At this juncture both the governor and the legislature are on a spot.

Telegram Raises Question Mark

WASHINGTON—Gov. John Patterson of Alabama, who was cussing out Negro Congressman William Dawson of Chicago a short time ago for probing a highway scandal in Alabama, got mysterious and unexpected help overnight from that Negro.

The help took the form of a telegram received by an Alabama grand jury in Mobile then in the act of probing highly embarrassing highway charges that the governor's former campaign manager, now finance director, was trying to increase a highway land appraisal from $1 to $180,000.

Governor Patterson had made statement after statement trying to belittle the probe, had even denounced the fact that a Negro congressman in Washington, Dawson, chairman of the House Government Operations Committee, was investigating the matter.

Then suddenly a mysterious telegram arrived from the Negro he had berated, aimed at rescuing the governor.

What was so mysterious about the telegram was the fact that no one knew who really sent it.

Furthermore, the congressman actually in charge of the investigation, Rep. John Blatnik of Minnesota, knew nothing about any telegram. He said that the committee's report was not yet typed, so that Chairman Dawson had had no chance to read it. Thus, the telegram was unwarranted.

Editors Think New Faces Are Big Need

WASHINGTON — Intense dissatisfaction with the situation at the State Department is being buried here in the interests of national unity during the forthcoming discussion with the Soviet Union.

The same senators who are heaping praise on Secretary Christian Herter and probably persuaded President Eisenhower that Herter must be appointed expect little more from him than a holding operation. They will, in fact, be happy to settle for that.

It is the unfortunate net of years of failure to hold the Eisenhower administration to a high standard of accountability for its management of the government. The sentiments expressed are almost non-partisan, for few Republicans attempt to defend seriously the present management of the country's destiny.

Candidates for President and their friends who busily cultivated the nation's editors here last week end think they found what amounts to a fever of frustration. They foresee a period of popularity for new brooms, even those of untested efficiency.

Even before the editors met, the politicians who hope to be at the helm for the next few decades were embarking on ambitious programs of travel and campaign organization.

Vice President Nixon is going to the Soviet Union in July and frankly hopes to be present at any summit meetings. He says nothing to disassociate himself from

Despite this, the mysterious telegram signed by Chairman Dawson had reached the grand jury at 4:30 p.m., reading: "There is not a scintilla of evidence in the land case. We washed our hands of this case on the floor of the House yesterday. (Signed) William L. Dawson, chairman House Government Operations Committee."

Significantly the telegram left Washington at 3:58 p.m. Significantly it was broadcast over station WKRQ in Mobile, a station owned by friends of Congressman Frank Boykin of Alabama, at 4:01. This was almost 30 minutes before the wire reached the grand jury.

This led to further investigation in Washington. It revealed that Boykin, who opposed Governor Patterson for election but is now doing his best to win his favor, conferred with Chairman Dawson regarding the Mobile land scandal and urged that no further investigation be undertaken.

Members of the committee stated that Dawson had agreed to call off the investigation, at Boykin's request, on the ground that no federal money had been lost. An expose in Mobile by an alert preacher who is also a member of the Alabama legislature, Charles Trimmer, had prevented any loss. It was Trimmer's charges which were being sifted by the Mobile grand jury when the mysterious telegram arrived.

Patchwork Prairie Country

There's a bit of the Old West in Nebraska that hasn't completely vanished from the prairies. Early this morning as The Farmer drove to town, he saw four animals bounding along the wheat field a mile east of our farm. They appeared to be light in color and at first he thought they were goats the neighbor boys had acquired. However, they were larger than goats and for a moment he was puzzled until they leaped the fence with the ease and grace of deer.

In fact, they were deer racing for the secluded thicket of a creek bed. There have been reports the past several years of deer being seen in this area, usually following the creeks, but never more than one at a time.

When I sing of my home on the range where the deer and antelope play, brother, I'm not just singing a bunch of crazy mixed-up lyrics—I'm singing for real!

I have just been reading an article on how to be a queen, with or without a crown. I, of course, would be the one without the crown. The exercises supposedly needed for the queenly stature sounded quite acceptable until I began to think just how I would master the art of doing my work gracefully.

Take, for instance, this statement: "Hold the rib cage up, up, up and the rest of your body will fall in a graceful line." All right so far, but with an egg basket in one hand and the other hand delving deep into the nests to get the last egg, just how am I going to manage to hold my rib cage up, up, up? I have only two hands, you know. My body would probably fall—not in the "graceful line" the directions hint of but over the first chicken waterer I encountered.

Another exercise for the royal figure which must start each day is to do the "mule kick." This is done on all fours. I can just see the look of consternation on The Farmer's face as I come into the kitchen to fix his breakfast, kicking like a mule. Besides, did you ever try to break an egg or fry flapjacks while down on all fours?

The "Jumping Jack" is done from a squatting position. With quick but vigorous little leaps, the body is sent bounding into the air. This is best done before going to bed and would amaze The Farmer beyond the point of no return. So while he quietly reads his paper prior to retiring, I will go into a corner of the living room and begin jumping like Bugs Bunny desperate for a carrot. I think I should stay near the wall in case the jumps become too vigorous. . . . I can always find the way back down again. . . . A quizzical look from behind the newspaper will bring one comment from The Farmer:

"There's one thing I can't stand and that's rabbits hopping around the living room."

The rhubarb with its crinkle of emerald leaves will soon be big enough for a pie. There's always something about the first fresh fruit pie or cobbler that has that extra appetite appeal.

My choice of pie varies according to the season. First I think there is nothing to compare to the tangy goodness of a rhubarb pie—that is, until the strawberry season is in full swing. When I pick the first bowl of cherries for a pie, I vow there will never be a pie to compare with the first cherry pie—that is, until the apricots are ready to be picked. Next it's the apple pie that takes my eye when I have gathered enough to fill a crust.

The Farmer's favorite is apple, spring, fall, autumn or winter, and he never veers from his choice. But when the peaches are lush and pink and the juice oozes from the wedge of pie, I know for certain there is absolutely nothing to compare to the flavor of fresh peach pie. This goes on until the pumpkins are ready for pies in the autumn.

Now, I don't know just what this proves—except that I like pie.

University Picture

Lincoln, Neb. For the past 14 years I have been employed as the secretary in the Department of Engineering Mechanics at the University of Nebraska, and feel qualified to pass on a few remarks in rebuttal to those of "L. M." in the April 14 Star.

After World War II, we had more professors than we now have. Personally, I was the secretary to 26 full-time men and seven part-time. Presently, I am the secretary to 20 full-time men and five part-time, and have worked for a good deal less.

There is plenty of classroom activity in our department daily, for some professors not so much on Thursdays, but for others a full day from 8:00 a.m. to 5:00 p.m., on their feet the whole day long in class. I know of some who teach classes from 8:00 a.m. to 10:00 p.m., on Tuesdays and Thursdays, which is probably true of other days. Tuesdays, Thursdays and Fridays are probably spent preparing tests, grading tests and daily papers, advising and helping students, doing research and writing technical papers for publication from results of research which is required for promotion in rank, or writing textbooks for use in their classes. In engineering, the professors are assigned 35 to 40 students to advise and this takes time. The professors work full days, grade papers in the evenings, and many work Saturdays and Sundays.

Does the professor in our department who had three technical papers published recently receive pay for them? No, it is for the benefit of those who find it useful, to gain prestige for the department and the university, to strengthen the graduate program, to gain promotion in rank, or for enjoyment of writing.

To point out some of the efforts of professors of other departments, namely, the Art Department. If a professor is to gain prestige, he must exhibit his paintings. He spends his spare time painting, making frames and crates in which to ship his paintings. The money for the supplies, paints, frames and crates comes from his pocket. He doesn't always sell his paintings, but does this to gain prestige for the university and himself.

As for the large number of professors having downtown offices, "L. M." missed the boat 100% in the Department of Engineering Mechanics and I could almost stick my neck out for the whole College of Engineering and Architecture teaching staff—about 80—and say he missed the boat 100%. The average university professor is a family man who just manages to support his family and couldn't afford downtown offices.

"L. M." has still to meet the average university professor.

Daily Chuckle

Lincoln, Neb. The Star's April 14 edition carried these front-page headlines: "Spending Governed By Needs—Like Spells Out GOP Creed." The article's first paragraph quoted like as stating in part: "... federal spending should be governed by national needs and not by 'political opportunism.'"

Are Ike's lame ducks to be considered as national needs and non-political appointees, or are they, with his co-operation, just plain political opportunists? Though Ike is contending that federal spending is limited only to national needs, such needs won't account for the wasteful amount that finances the trough where the lame duck feeds.

Are we overly critical when we charge as political His partisan use of his patronage power? Does this coincide, as his statement implied, with the "less-spending" slogan of Eisenhower?

How that first paragraph makes the lame duck laugh. So hard that his belt may part from its buckle. But he's first to concede he's a National Need. Thus giving Star readers their "Morning Chuckle."

Bingo Bill

Omaha, Neb. Ralph Brooks as yet is unrecordable as a specialist in gubernatorial diligence. Obviously he missed studying the bingo bill that he so blandly vetoed. Terry Carpenter is not "carping" this time, for he and others had sweated to produce a law chock-full of enforcements.

Under it, when faced with effrontery and provocation, any community may get its voters active and expunge bingoism within its borders, or do that in civic pride, anyway. LB86 was printed in January, so our pleasant "traveling salesman" and governor simply could not be expected to shake hands with it so soon. But expectations like other things change aspects!

Street Repair

Lincoln, Neb. The long-awaited Centennial is only two weeks away. Many, many people are coming to Lincoln for this week of festivities. Enthusiasm in the city as a whole is rapidly reaching a peak. Is it possible that some of this growing enthusiasm hasn't rubbed off on the officials of the Street Department? Some of the main arterials are full of chuckholes. Shouldn't the Street Department do its best to co-operate with the rest of the town and see that the streets of Lincoln are in good repair when all these visitors are in "our town"?

Castro Expects U.S. Interests In Cuba To Pay Their Own Way

... Has No Plan To Nationalize Lands

Washington (AP)—Fidel Castro served notice that his revolutionary government expects American and other interests in Cuba to pay their own way.

The 32-year-old Cuban strong man, declaring himself against communism and all dictatorships of all kinds, said his regime does not plan to nationalize any lands.

The Prime Minister said at the same time that his government will "expropriate legally" those lands which are idle or unproductive.

And, speaking in a National Press Club address about the U.S.-owned Nicargoa nickel plant in his country, Castro said:

"We want the plant to produce two or three times more nickel. We want them to . . . process the metal there so that more Cubans will have work."

Cordial Reception

Castro, in his customary open-collar battle dress, got a cordial reception from the newsmen. He gave every indication of enjoying, too, the kidding which the Press Club traditionally gives its guests.

He took good-humoredly, for instance, a question about his thick beard.

"When we finish our job we will cut off our beards," the former rebel leader said.

Castro turned serious, for the most part, however, in his remarks to the 500 newsmen and in his answers to their questions.

How, he was asked, could he as a lawyer justify his regime's trying for a second time some adherents of the ousted Batista group after they had been acquitted of war crimes charges?

'Same Right'

"If the accused has a right to appeal, the people have the same right," Castro shot back. And he added: "Would you exonerate those who bombed Pearl Harbor without warning?"

Castro previously had said he and his associates are not Communists. But he came out against communism more strongly than ever.

"We are against communism and all dictatorships of all kinds," he declared when asked what he thought of Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev.

"Whatever the nature of the dictatorship — class dictator, military dictator or dictator of the oligarchy, we are opposed to it."

He ended a 5-day stay in Washington, leaving for Princeton, N.J., to continue a two-week tour of the eastern United States and Canada.

Lands At Princeton

Princeton, N.J. (AP)—Cuba's Prime Minister Fidel Castro arrived at the Princeton University campus to a riotous welcome. Hundreds of students broke police lines to get near the young revolutionary chieftain.

Castro, who had arrived from Washington, had to be helped through the mob by state police to enter Woodrow Wilson Hall. He was to address a select group of university students.

Students yelling "Viva Castro" and "speech, speech," surrounded the limousine and closed the pathway that had been cleared from the car to the entrance to Wilson Hall.

Students booed the state police who were unable to restrain the crowd. Near the entrance the officers formed a flying wedge to let Castro through. Even then the Prime Minister showed reluctance to be escorted into the building.

He waved over his shoulder to the students.

Fulton Asks Expense Aid On Recount

... Unit To Study

Sen. George Fulton of Beatrice told the Legislature Monday he has been left with bills totaling $803.88 as a result of his successful recount challenge.

That's the amount of attorney fees and other expenses not covered by the $435.31 which the Legislative Recount Committee has recommended be paid for the expenses of the recount.

"All I'm asking is that you get me off the hook for some of this," Fulton said.

And a number of senators stood up to agree that Fulton, as recount winner, should not be obliged to pay money out of his own pocket in the case.

On a motion of Sen. Marvin Lautenschlager of Grand Island, the entire question was turned over to the Salaries and Claims Committee headed by Sen. John Aufenkamp of Julian.

Waldo Too

Sen. Arnold Ruhnke of Plymouth suggested that former Sen. Willard Waldo of DeWitt, recount loser, similarly should be spared out-of-pocket expenses. He was a party to the recount through no fault of his own, Ruhnke argued.

Fulton said he talked with his attorney over the weekend and the lawyer indicated willingness to cut his fee.

Sen. Aufenkamp suggested payment to Fulton's attorney, Leslie Noble of Grand Island, of about might serve as a compromise.

Aufenkamp said he is not a spendthrift but "we should be fair."

"I do feel that Sen. Fulton should not have to pay, because he won the contest," Aufenkamp declared.

March Traffic On Rural Roads 7% Over 1957

Average daily traffic on the state's rural roads during March increased 7% over last year's figures, the Department of Roads has announced.

The largest increase for any one road was on Nebraska 9 north of West Point. Twenty-four per cent more cars passed the counting station in March of this year than during the same month last year.

The county road north of Chappell, however, was used by 9% fewer vehicles than last year.

As for Lincoln city streets, the department recorded a 10% decrease for the traffic on 16th and 17th Sts. at B St.

Gasoline taxed for highway use also dropped 7% in February of this year compared to February of 1958, the department reported.

Norman Graham To Head Union College Students

Norman Graham, junior ministerial student from Colorado, has been elected president of the Union College Associated Student Body for the 1959-60 term.

Others elected to terms were: Jerry Aso, vice president; Sharon Chatfield, secretary-treasurer; and Phyllis Foster, assistant secretary-treasurer.

Graham is also president of the schools' Ministerial Assn. and Sigma Iota Kappa.

9 Charged After Cops' Vice And Liquor Raids

Nine persons were arraigned on charges ranging from prostitution to illegal sale of liquor Monday in Municipal Court after their arrest early Sunday morning in a police vice check.

A newly-hired policeman, Al Krause of 1828 Garfield, acted as an undercover man and checked the city for prostitution and liquor activity.

His investigation resulted in one woman being charged with prostitution, a man and a woman charged with illegal sales of liquor, one woman being charged with keeping a disorderly house and 5 men being charged with being drunk and being inmates of a disorderly house.

Dorothy Van Vooren, 28, of 2286 Y, pleaded innocent to a prostitution charge. Her trial was set for May 8.

Phone Aid

Krause made a phone date with her and then met her early Sunday morning near the Bus Depot. After a taxi ride with the woman she was arrested.

The cab driver was questioned by police but was not charged.

Next Krause contacted cab driver Eugene Ingram, 38, of 601 S. 29th, and succeeded in purchasing liquor from him. Ingram pleaded guilty in Municipal Court to charges of selling liquor on Sunday and selling liquor without a state license, and was fined a total of $150.

Next To Hamp's

Krause then took a cab to Hamp's Restaurant at 12th and Cornhusker, where he allegedly again succeeded in purchasing liquor.

Leana Hamilton, 53, of 1941 T, who operates Hamp's, pleaded innocent in court to violating the city's keeping-a-disorderly-house ordinance. Her trial was set for May 7.

A waitress at the establishment, LaVeta McKenny Harris, 35, of 1725 No. 23rd, pleaded innocent to charges of selling liquor on Sunday and selling liquor without a state license. Her trial also was set for May 7.

5 In Restaurant

Five men in the restaurant while Krause was there were all charged with being drunk and with being inmates of a disorderly house. They are:

John H. Ballard, 54, of Wyomere; John W. Whalen, 30, of 210 S. 9th; Luther C. Mundall, 53, of 1336 O; Maurice N. Therien, 28, of Rt. 1; and Albert Smallbear, 55, of 1745 West O.

Ballard and Therien pleaded guilty to being drunk but innocent to being inmates of a disorderly house and their trial was set for May 7. Sentencing was deferred on the drunk charge.

Whalen pleaded guilty to both drunk and "inmate" charges but he also was charged with indecent exposure, and to this he pleaded innocent. Sentencing on the first two charges was deferred until after his trial May 7 on the exposure charge.

Mundall pleaded innocent to both charges and his trial was set for Apr. 27.

Smallbear pleaded guilty to both charges and was fined a total of $60.

Such vice checks are made periodically by police whenever reports of such activity are received. Usually a newly-hired policeman—as in this case—is used for the work.

TOILET PAPER TOSSERS TO BE IN COURT

Eighteen teen-agers who threw rolls of toilet paper into trees in South Lincoln Saturday night have been scheduled for Juvenile Court appearances, county authorities reported Monday.

Seven of the youths threw about 3 rolls of toilet paper into trees near 47th and Normal, police said. The other 11 youths threw about 25 rolls into trees and a yard near 25th and Stockwell.

80-Year-Olds Wed 50 Years To Be Feted

Eighty-year-old Lancaster County residents and couples who were married in the county 50 or more years ago will be honored at two receptions during the Lincoln Centennial celebration.

The first reception will be held at the home of Dr. and Mrs. Vance D. Rogers at 5535 Madison Ave. on May 5 and the second reception at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Walton Ferris, 2485 Woodcrest.

Hours for the reception honoring the 80-year-olds will be 2 p.m. to 3 p.m., and 3 p.m. to 4 p.m. on May 5 and May 8.

The couples who have been married 50 years or more will be honored from 4 p.m. to 5 p.m. at each of two receptions.

Mrs. Hazel Abel said that the wives of former mayors of Lincoln will pour at the receptions. She said members of the committee will wear costumes of the periods of various governors of Nebraska. She asked that couples planning to attend contact her.

Pavilion Inspected

Moscow (AP)—Harold McClellan, general manager of the American exhibits in Moscow which is to open here July 25, has arrived from New York to inspect construction work on the big aluminum pavilion which will house the show.

He told Soviet newsmen at the airport that the visit of Vice President Nixon to Moscow to open the exhibition in July 15 is a "gesture of good will by the United States."

Dancer Critical After Suicide Try Aboard Airliner

Los Angeles (AP)—Burlesque's "I Don't Care" girl tried to kill herself aboard an airliner just before it landed here Monday, police said. A note blamed a broken romance.

Redhaired dancer Mitzi Dore, 32, was found unconscious from an overdose of tranquilizer pills in the American Airlines plane rest room.

She was taken to a hospital in Inglewood where her condition was reported critical.

Miss Dore had been billed at New York and Los Angeles burlesque houses as the "I Don't Care Girl" and the "Happy Go Lucky Girl." Her real name is Beatrice Themis Doerr. Her home is in Alexandria, Va.

Policeman L. W. Lane, who met the plane, said the note on the back of a flight ticket, was addressed to Fred Raulin, Washington, D. C., a real estate consultant.

QUESTIONS ON TAXES SWAMP SWITCHBOARD

Persons asking last-minute questions about their 1959 personal property tax schedules swamped the switchboard at the Lancaster County Courthouse Monday.

Often there were long delays in getting calls through due to the deluge of callers. Deadline for mailing in the forms to County Assessor Arthur Davis was Monday.

American Overseas Not Pleasing—Cleveland

By Nancy Ray

An American abroad, viewed through the eyes of the nation where he is working, "is not a pleasing picture."

That is the opinion of Dean Harlan Cleveland of the Maxwell Graduate School, Syracuse University, who will speak Tuesday morning at the University of Nebraska honors convocation.

The New Yorker described the attitude of other peoples toward Americans as "not unusual. A country which is a power is never popular, and even when our bombs protect the peoples of the world from Communism, we cannot expect them to be gratified."

Poetic Justice

Cleveland commented that this attitude toward America and Americans by other nations might be "poetic justice when you think of how we hid behind the skirts of the British Navy and yet jeered at them."

Dean Cleveland and his staff have recently finished an exhaustive study of Americans employed in overseas posts for business, government and independent agencies.

Their study showed that the cliché, "A good man at home is a good man abroad," bluntly "ain't necessarily so."

Cleveland reviewed, in capsule form, 5 points needed for effective performance by America's overseas workers as:

Skill—Plus

—Technical skill—plus. The "plus" involves the needed adaptability which allows a technician to operate under the circumstances and with the resources available.

—Career perspective. Another word for "dedication" and interest in the job regardless of the geographic location.

—Cultural empathy. Cleveland defines this as "the ability to know how the other fellow thinks and the restraint not to think it wrong because it is different." He added that "we need to learn a lot about the uses of humility."

Politics, Too

—A sense of politics. This includes an awareness of political change, the professor commented.

—Organizational ability. For instance, an engineer may be overseas to build a bridge, but his real job is to build an organization to build bridges, Cleveland explained.

The dean is a longterm government employee himself, as assistant director of the Mutual Security Agency and has also spent several years in Italy and China. Later he

Labor Board Criticizes ITU Contract Demands

Washington (UPI)—The National Labor Relations Board (NLRB) has ruled that contract demands of the AFL-CIO International Typographical Union violated the Taft-Hartley Act.

A 3-member NLRB panel said the ITU's proposals to include its clauses on work jurisdiction and union bylaws in contracts with two New England newspapers were unfair labor practices.

It ruled in cases involving the ITU and Haverhill, Mass., Gazette and the Worcester, Mass., telegram. The Haverhill strike has been settled.

ITU General Counsel Gerhard P. Van Arkel said the decision demonstrated that the NLRB has "intruded too far into collective bargaining."

New Factor

On the political scene, Dean Cleveland sees a new factor in presidential politics. "Neither party can, with a straight face, run a candidate who does not look and act like an international statesman."

He pointed to the recent visit of Sen. Hubert Humphrey of Minnesota to Russia and his interview with Nikita Khrushchev, and Vice President Nixon's pending visit with the Russian, quipping that "a visit to the Kremlin is becoming a necessity for political aspirants."

The presidential race in 1960 is difficult to predict, Cleveland admits, but he is convinced that Sen. John Kennedy of Massachusetts "could carry New England solidly."

New York is "unpredictable," he said, but is likely to cross party lines in voting for a favorite son or an outstanding candidate, he said.

The New Yorker refused to comment on Nebraska politics because of his lack of firsthand knowledge of the situation, but said his Tuesday schedule included a meeting with Gov. Ralph Brooks.

'Homicide' Ruled In Puzzling Death Of Mom And Son

Lockport, N. Y. (AP)—A coroner issued a verdict of homicide Monday night in the puzzling deaths of a mother and her 3-year-old son.

Thus Dr. George H. Muscato, the coroner, sided with Niagara County Sheriff James K. Murphy who previously had said everything indicated the two were killed and hurled into a creek.

Dist. Atty. William H. Earl disagreed, however. The county prosecutor said that he still was not convinced the two were slain and that he was "more inclined to favor the suicide theory."

The body of Mrs. Claudia Kosko, 33, of North Tonawanda, was found Friday in a creek near that western New York village. The body of her son, Gary, was discovered the next day 5 miles away in the barge canal. The creek flows into the canal.

The coroner reported they apparently died April 11.

Woman Held Here Admits Real Name

A Lincoln woman who had given another name and pleaded guilty to both petit larceny and vagrancy admitted her true identity Monday and was allowed to withdraw her plea on the vagrancy count, which was then dismissed.

Mrs. Delores Jones, 23, of 630 So. 10th, admitted giving authorities the name "Nancy Smith of Pueblo, Colo.," in an attempt to avoid embarrassment to her family. She was accused of taking nearly $6 worth of merchandise in a shoplifting attempt at a local grocery.

She had pleaded guilty in County Court to a petit larceny charge, and was fined $25 by Judge Herbert A. Rohn. She had also pleaded guilty to a vagrancy complaint which charged her with having no visible means of support.

But when her true identity was established she was allowed to withdraw her plea to this charge, which was then dismissed at the request of the County Attorney's office.

The woman had at first claimed to have recently arrived from Colorado and said she had been living in Pentzer Park on No. 27th.

Solons Fail To Override Brooks Bingo Bill Veto

... Only 19 Of The 26 Votes Needed Mustered

By Betty Person
Gov. Ralph Brooks' veto of the bingo bill was sustained Monday when those favoring overriding his veto could muster only 19 of the 26 votes required to pass the bill without his signature.

The 19-22 vote came after 105 minutes of debate saw 20 senators rise to express their views on the hot subject.

The bill was passed April 8 by 32 to 9.

Sen. Sam Klaver of Omaha, principal introducer of the bingo bill, LB86, made the motion to override the veto declaring that in the 20 years he has been connected with state government he had never known "any governor who ever dared" to veto a bill resulting from a constitutional amendment approved by the voters.

Objection Voiced

Sen. Harold Stryker of Rising City objected to Klaver's statement protesting that Brooks had not vetoed a constitutional amendment but the form of the bingo bill passed.

Klaver further criticized Brooks for not making his objections to the bingo bill known during the time that it was being worked upon by the Government Committee and the 41 days it was on general file before the measure was passed.

Sen. William Skarda of Omaha, co-introducer of the bill, called Brooks' veto "one of the rottenest political moves I've ever seen," and sharply criticized the chief executive for not expressing his objections to the measure while it was being drafted.

Time Argued

The argument that Brooks had had plenty of time to offer his objections to the bill before its final passage were echoed frequently among the senators proposing that his veto be overridden.

Sen. Dwain Williams of Broken Bow, chairman of the Government Committee, said the committee worked long and hard on the measure and had the help of the attorney general and secretary of state in drafting the measure.

"If the governor felt the way he does, he should at least have come and talked to us," Williams said.

The Broken Bow senator said that in his opinion local enforcement could handle problems which might arise from the bingo bill, and that if enforcement were put on the state level, the local officers would say "take it to the state," thus leaving loopholes in enforcement.

Doubts Voiced

Sen. Norman Otto of Kearney noted that he had voted for the bill previously but now had some serious doubts about its merit and mentioned specifically no limit on the size of the game or the prizes.

He suggested that people voting for the bingo amendment voted for "fun-type" games and not the games which may be possible under LB86.

Sen. Joe Vosoba of Wilber joined Otto saying that he had voted for the bill originally and that is the one vote he has cast this session which he "regretted."

He said local enforcement officers are now "overworked and underpaid" and that giving them enforcement of bingo laws would not be fair.

Drafters Challenged

Sen. Terry Carpenter of Scottsbluff challenged the service organizations and Nebraska Council of Churches representatives who helped draft LB86 to deny that they had said they felt the committee was trying to write a good law.

He also poked sharply at Brooks saying the governor should realize there was no way to give more enforcement than under LB86 as drawn.

Sen. John Munnely of Omaha suggested that the veto should be overridden and that if the governor does not like the bill amendments could be brought in to make changes he believes necessary. To not override the veto, Munnely said, "is unfair to the people who voted so strongly for it (bingo)."

Sens. J. O. Peck of Columbus, Michael Russillo of Omaha, Edwin McHugh of Murdock, Hal Bridenbaugh of Dakota City and David Tews of Norfolk also spoke in favor of overriding the veto, and Sens. Hans Jensen of Aurora and Lewis Webb of Ogallala were among those speaking in favor of the veto.

The vote on overriding the veto:

SOVIET WON'T RISK WAR OVER BERLIN, STRAUSS ASSERTS

Chicago (UPI)—Franz Josef Strauss, defense minister of West Germany, said the Russians are too aware of the consequences to risk war over Berlin.

"Khrushchev knows a worldwide war would include enormous risk for Russia and would bring about physical destruction to an extent one cannot forecast," Strauss told a news conference.

Strauss stopped in Chicago on his tour of the United States.

Cooper Promises To Labor For New Bingo Bill

Sen John Cooper of Humboldt said Monday he would work hard to help enact a new bingo bill this session.

Cooper pointed out that his votes against passage of LB86 and to sustain the governor's veto of the bill were votes against that specific piece of legislation and not against bingo.

The Humboldt legislator had urged amendment of LB86 to limit the size of a bingo game before Gov. Ralph Brooks vetoed the measure.

Hospital Need At Arnold To Get Support

A legislative committee agreed Monday to go along with an attempt to help the community of Arnold, Neb., solve its hospital problems.

Sent to the legislative floor on a 4-0 vote following public hearing was LB706, a so-called "Nebraska local hospital district act" sought by residents of the Custer County community.

Arnold's hospital has been out of operation and the community has been without a doctor.

Under LB706, a tax-levying hospital district could be created on a vote of the people. The district could embrace parts of more than one county and a tax of up to one mill per year could be levied for support of the district.

The committee was told that converting the Arnold Hospital into a city or county hospital is not feasible. Located near the county line, the hospital serves parts of adjoining Logan and Lincoln counties as well as the Custer area.

Harry Dutrow, president of the Arnold Chamber of Commerce, led the presentation for the bill. Supporting testimony came also from Clarence Romans, George Halstead, Dwight Best, Frank Koubeck and B. C. Wehrman, all of Arnold, and state Sen. Jack Romans of Ord.

Johnson Dead

Guelph, Ont. (AP)—Edward Johnson, former general manager of New York's Metropolitan Opera, died in a hospital. He collapsed while attending the opening of a ballet performance here. He was 80.

State's Water Pollution Fund Share Less

Federal aid for Nebraska Water Pollution abatement projects next year will be only about 40% of this year's figure, the Nebraska State Board of Health was told Monday.

The report was given by T. A. Filipi, state sanitation director, at a regular Board of Health meeting.

Filipi said the state received $683,800 federal aid for 1959, but $274,660 will be received in 1960 in accordance with a cut made by the President in his budget message for 1960.

The funds come to the state under Public Law 660 of the 84th Congress signed July 9, 1956, he said, when a 10-year program of water pollution abatement was started. The federal government has since divided $50 million among states each year according to need, except that in 1960 only $20 will be divided up.

This year the money is being used on 18 local sewage disposal projects worth a total of $4,177,242.

Eight projects costing $1,905,576 are already planned for next year, Filipi said, for which the request to the federal government was $424,722.

Filipi recommended a state project under which all sewage outlets contributing to stream pollution would have treatment facilities by 1966.

Unnecessary

Washington (AP)—The General Accounting Office reported to Congress the Navy Department is incurring two million annually in unnecessary costs by paying its blue collar workers weekly instead of every two weeks.

Such workers have no civil service status and usually are paid by the hour. There are upwards of 200,000 of them on Navy payrolls.

The GAO said most other federal agencies pay their blue collar workers biweekly, thereby reducing the cost of payroll preparation.

PARTRIDGE VISITS-ENDS UP IN ZOO

The bird pen at the Antelope Park Zoo will have a new occupant with the addition of a Chukar Partridge, found by Harold Kurtzer on his front porch at 4635 Judson.

Freddy, the 5-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Kurtzer, took an immediate liking to the bird, but was persuaded to give it up to the zoo.

The partridge, which has a red nose, red eyes, black-striped breast and a grayish-brown body, is a native of the mountainous countries of Asia, according to the Game Commission.

A little smaller than a prairie chicken, the bird had been stocked in Nebraska for game, but during the last few years has almost completely disappeared.

Gift To Alaska

Washington (AP)—The first official 49-star flag, to be flown from the Capitol July 4, will become the property of the state of Alaska, the 49th state.

The House sent to President Eisenhower a resolution directing that the flag be turned over to the Alaska delegation in Congress for presentation to the governor of Alaska.

Witnesses Expect 1,200 At Assembly

More than 1,200 persons are expected to attend the semi-annual district assembly of Jehovah's Witnesses Apr. 24-27 at the Fairgrounds.

Rutherford G. Sakatos, district supervisor of Jehovah's Witnesses, will be the keynote speaker at the convention. He will speak Friday on "Be A Teacher of the Good News" and on Sunday "A Paradise Earth Through God's Kingdom."

Sakatos arrived in Lincoln Tuesday and will participate in a series of meetings with local ministers. He will speak on "Feeding At Jehovah's Table" at the Kingdom Hall Tuesday evening.

State Scale Section

Taking Applications

Applications are being accepted by the Scale Section of the Nebraska Department of Roads at the Capitol for officers to weigh and measure trucks at the state's 12 stations.

Chief Officer Richard T. Carter said 5 men will be hired and 5 placed on reserve. Stations are at North Platte, Holdrege, Wahoo, Oread, Culbertson, Nickerson, Columbus, Hebron, Northport, Laurel, Stafford and Waverly.

KUON-TV To Feature Alaska And Hawaii

A discussion of Hawaii and Alaska will be featured in KUON-TV's "Let's Visit School" program, heard at 7 p.m. Tuesday.

First State Capitol Goes Up

Lincoln's first state Capitol building was partially completed when this picture was taken in 1868. Begun in November, 1867, the structure took several years to finish. One of the workers on the construction crew in 1868 told of being issued rifles and revolvers for protection against Indians. This building, the second state Capitol and our present statehouse all have occupied the same site. (Photo courtesy State Historical Society.)

Lt. Governor Pay Increase Is Approved

The Legislature, on a 28-14 vote, Monday authorized a raise in pay for the state's lieutenant governor.

LB639, introduced by Sen. David Tew of Norfolk, failed to receive the 29 votes needed to make the bill effective immediately on the governor's signature, but easily received the majority vote needed for passage without the emergency clause.

The bill would boost the lieutenant governor's pay from $1,744 to $3,000 a year.

Other bills passed Monday (E—emergency clause):

LB327 (Stryker, Jensen)—Requiring

investigating officers to submit motor vehicle accident reports to the accident

records bureau. (E) 42-0.

LB466 (Munnely, Clausen)—Authorizing

group life insurance for members of a credit union. 42-0.

LB479 (Munnely, Portschke, Peck)—

Authorizing state-chartered building and loan associations to make certain loans

and accept investments that a federal savings and loan association doing business in the state may be authorized to make or accept. (E) 41-0.

LB509 (Simmons, Bridenbaugh, Lautenschlager, Donner)—Setting a time limit during which Railway Commission must hear and dispose of matters before it. (E) 41-0.

March State Government Cost Down

March state government expenditures were held to $9,390,495, slightly below the $9,395,304 spent in February, the state tax commissioner's office has reported.

The March amount brought the total spent so far this biennium to $230,992,901. The biennium closes June 30.

The state used $2,510,412 from the property tax supported general fund bringing expenditures from that fund this biennium to $56,585,660.

Another $3,248,385 was spent from cash funds hiking the total this biennium to $83,702,622.

Expenditures from federal funds were $2,872,614 increasing the total this biennium to $71,810,917.

In addition, $121,514 was spent from the building fund levy and $637,568 from special fund levies.

TOWN TALK

—There seemed to be considerable hithering and yon-ing during the past week-end —Dr. and Mrs. Lee Stover, for instance, were home Monday after a Friday-to-Sunday stay at Pelican Lake——And we heard that Miss Jean Garlinghouse, who is attending the University of Kansas, was a week end guest at the home of her parents, Dr. and Mrs. Robert Garlinghouse.

—But we'll interrupt the week end activity for a moment or two so that we may give you news of some of the popular June brides.

Saturday will be a busy day for two of the June brides-elect — Miss Suzanne Swingle, who becomes the bride of Veldon Lewis on Friday, June 12—and Miss Jean Swanson, who has chosen June 27 as the date of marriage to Clifford Boline, Jr.

On Saturday Miss Swingle will be complimented by Mrs. Del Gould and her daughter, Mrs. Richard Hergenrader when they entertain at a 1 o'clock luncheon at Hotel Cornhusker. The bride-elect will be presented with a pottery and stainless steel shower.

—Miss Swanson also has a courtesy on her Saturday calendar—It is the party for which Mrs. George Rokahr, Mrs. Harry Bull, Mrs. James Austin and Mrs. Fred Thomas will be hostesses at the Lincoln Country Club when they entertain at a 10:30 o'clock brunch and miscellaneous shower.

—A week from today,

Tuesday, April 23, is party day again for Miss Swingle. Her hostesses will be Mrs. Earl Carter and her daughter, Mrs. Jack Holmquist who have invited guests for dinner and a linen shower at the home of Mrs. Carter.

—But our May brides have not been deserted as far as attention is concerned. One of the very popular May brides-elect is Miss Jacquelyn Merritt who will marry Orville F. Glass on May 23.

On Wednesday, April 29 Miss Merritt will be an honoree when Mrs. Robert Simon and Mrs. Richard Knudsen are luncheon hostesses at the home of Mrs. Simon. Luncheon places will be arranged for 12, and the soon-to-be bride will be presented with a miscellaneous shower.

EASTRIDGE

Mrs. Robert Corti recently was the guest of honor at a pink and blue shower which was given by Mrs. Ted Lemm. Guests at the evening dessert included Mrs. James Kamas, Mrs. Joseph Verteramo, Mrs. Richard Whitley, Mrs. Ray Manning, Mrs. Charles Smith, Mrs. Robert Weidner, Mrs. Peter Nichols, and Mrs. John Seanor.

Another baby shower in Eastridge took place on Wednesday afternoon which was given in honor of Mrs. Don Grimwood by Mrs. Howard Rose and Mrs. Charles Gove. There were three tables of bridge at the afternoon-dessert which was held at Mrs. Rose's home.

Eastridge residents who played bridge at an afternoon dessert at the home of Mrs. Ralph H. Dowell on Friday were Mrs. Ray Manning, Mrs. C. C. Gordon, Mrs. Bernard Wendt, Mrs. John Hedge, Mrs. Robert Kinsey, Mrs. Eldon Mills, Mrs. Douglas Borgden, and Mrs. J. J. Farrell.

A hostess at her home last Tuesday afternoon for her bridge club was Mrs. Richard Freeman. Those present included Mrs. Douglas Borgden, Mrs. Fred Bockoven, Mrs. L. D. Cole, Mrs. Jack Bower, Mrs. James Mallon, Mrs. William Smiley, and Mrs. Lee Gartner attended as a guest.

Turning now to our birthday book we find that Judith Lynn Anderson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Anderson, will be honored at her home on her fourth anniversary Thursday afternoon from 2 to 4 o'clock. Joining the fun at the afternoon party will be Patricia Biggs, Debbie Gartner, Billie Anne and Rory Sue Rolfsmeier, Linda Hagerman, and Wendy Brown. Judy's brother and sisters, Steven, Susan and Kathy are going to help be host and hostesses at the game and refreshments party.

On Thursday Mrs. Jim Hutchinson will be a hostess at her home at a 1 o'clock dessert-luncheon. Those included on the guest list for afternoon bridge party are Mrs. Vince Dreeszen, Mrs. Gene Lingenfelder, and Mrs. Harry Bauer.

Also entertaining at a luncheon and bridge party will be Mrs. Al Vittera who will be a hostess this noon at the Legion Club. Those present will be Mrs. Jim Hutchinson, Mrs. Robert Filbert, Mrs. Jack Beers, Mrs. Harry Bauer, Mrs. Paul Mulder, Mrs. Art Whitmer, and Mrs. Roy DeLair.

EASTMONT

The newest member of the younger set in Eastmont this morning is Craig Alan Heidbrink, son of Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Heidbrink, who made his premier appearance at St. Elizabeth Hospital on Wednesday, April 8. The young man has one brother, Kent Douglas, who is four years old.

His paternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Heidbrink of Malcolm, and Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Johnson of Beaver Crossing are the maternal grandparents. Understand that both the Heidbrinks and the Johnsons already have visited their new grandson through the hospital nursery window.

Hold Speech Contest

The spring meeting of the Council 5 Toastmistress Clubs was held Sunday at the Hotel Cornhusker and was highlighted by the annual speech contest at which Mrs. Rudelle Webb was named first place winner.

Members of the 7 clubs in the council, representing Lincoln, Omaha, Seward and Shenandoah, Ia., attended the meeting and luncheon for which the Aksarben Club

Dear Abby . . .

Keep On The Reservation!

Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: A few months ago my wife started going out "with the girls".

I became suspicious when she stayed out so late and I followed her. She was meeting her boss in a bar. I caused a big scene and the next day I went to the president of the company they worked for and he fired them both. Since then five people have phoned me from the office expressing their sympathy over what happened and all said the affair had been going on for over three years (ever since she started working there). There are children involved on both sides. I forgave my wife for the children's sake but now she wants to get another job to help pay off some bills. Should I let her? I don't think she can be trusted.

WRONGED

DEAR WRONGED: Keep her home for the time being. Nobody changes over night.

DEAR ABBY: I am 13 and have more problems than my mother. A boy at school took a liking to me and followed me around so much I started calling him my shadow. He begged me to go to an afternoon show with him but I refused. He called me nine times and my mother said, "For goodness sakes, go with him and get rid of him! He liked me all the more. He asked me to take his I.D. bracelet and to tell you the truth I wanted to but my mother would have brained me. He gave me a box of Easter candy and my mother served it to her bridge club and I didn't even get one piece. If I don't accept his I.D. bracelet it will ruin my friendship with his sister who is my age. What should I do?

TROUBLES

DEAR TROUBLES: You say if you ACCEPT his I.D. bracelet your mother will "brain" you, and if you DON'T, you'll lose his sister's friendship. I doubt if either your mother or his sister would resort to such drastic measures, but you'd better refuse the bracelet. A girl can live without a girlfriend, but she definitely needs her brains.

DEAR ABBY: Last week my little girl started scratching her head something fierce. I looked real good at her hair and it was loaded with lice. I killed all I could find. I scrubbed her head with a strong laundry bleach and combed her hair with a fine comb, but she still scratches. How can I kill all the lice eggs without damaging the roots of her hair? I am crazy with fear and fretting. Can you help me?

FEARFUL

DEAR FEARFUL: Don't experiment on your child's head. Call your doctor and ask him for his recommendation.

CONFIDENTIAL TO M. J.: People are usually "down on" the things they aren't "up on." Study the subjects from all angles.

If you have a problem, write to Abigail Van Buren in care of this paper. She will be glad to answer your letter. For a personal reply, enclose a self-addressed envelope.

Faculty Group Elects

The regular spring meeting of the Lincoln Public Schools Faculty Wives Club was held Monday evening at Dawes School. Following the program, which was presented by students from Northeast, Lincoln and Southeast High Schools, the group named

SOAP TO THE RESCUE

Ever break a light bulb when it's in the socket? Here's how one friend suggests removing the bulb without fear of cutting your hands on the broken pieces of glass. Be sure to turn off the current first! Then slowly press a bar of soap into the broken ends. Very carefully, turn left till the bulb is out!

SUPPLY UNLIMITED

There are so many household uses for hot water, it would be hard to plan chores according to your hot water supply. With a gas water heater, you'll have all the hot water you need. The minute you use any amount of hot water, your gas heater automatically goes to work heating more, keeping well ahead of the peak demand. Why not do the laundry two, three, or even four times a week. No more Monday-wash-day-blues this way and it's so easy when you have plenty of hot water at the turn of the tap! See gas water heater models on display at our local gas company and gas appliance dealer now!

LADY IN DISTRESS

Friend of mine, driving in the country a few days ago suddenly discovered her car was stuck in the mud. With no one around to help, here's what she did: First, let most of the air out of the rear tires. This increased traction enough to allow her to pull out. Then she pumped the air back in the tires and was on her way! If this happens to you, better make certain you have a tire pump handy . . . driving when the tires are low on air is the best way to damage tires and rims—just ask any man!

DID YOU KNOW

Six out of every ten of the nation's 28 million residential gas customers heat their homes with gas. Predictions say that by 1970, eight out of ten homes will use gas for heating! It's no wonder . . . gas has so many good points. For instance, gas is cleaner. No more grimy telltale soot or greasy films on furniture and walls! The air stays healthfully clean and pure. Northern Natural Gas Company pipes gas to your local gas company, who supplies you with nature's most efficient fuel.

FILLED CAKE

Mrs. Antie Storey, Council Bluffs, Iowa, sent us the perfect companion for coffee or tea: Prepare filling by combining 1½ cups brown sugar with 2 tsp. cinnamon, 1 cup chopped walnuts. To make batter, sift together 3 cups sifted flour, ½ tsp. salt, 3 tsp. baking powder. Cream 1 cup sugar with 1 cup shortening. Add 2 beaten eggs to creamed mixture. Add dry ingredients alternately with 1 cup milk to which 1 tsp. vanilla has been added. Mix all ingredients together thoroughly. (Dip your mixing spoon in melted butter. The thick batter will be easier to blend.) Now spread one-half of the batter in a 9 x 13 inch pan. Sprinkle on one-half of filling mixture. Top with remaining batter and sprinkle on rest of filling mixture. Pour ½ cup melted butter over cake. Pop in 375-degree gas oven 20 to 30 minutes.

Cepeda Tops Start In '58

New York (AP)—Orlando Cepeda, carrying the brunt of San Francisco's batting attack, is well ahead of his pace of a year ago when he was named the outstanding rookie in the National League.

The husky first baseman leads the league in home runs with 5 and is deadlocked for the top spot in runs batted in with Ernie Banks of the Chicago Cubs. Each has 12. Cepeda has hit safely in each of the Giants' 9 games and showed a .385 batting mark through Sunday's games.

In his first 9 games of 1958, Orlando had only two homers, 8 RBIs and a .316 batting percentage. He did not collect his 5th circuit blow until May 4.

Willie Mays, the Giants' big gun, is hitting only .243. But two other members of Bill Rigney's club are off to excellent starts. They are Felipe Alou and Jim Davenport, both sophomores. Alou is hitting .379 and Davenport .371.

Meanwhile, Hank Aaron of Milwaukee and George Strickland of Cleveland have taken early leads in the big league batting races. Aaron has 14 hits in 26 tries and paces the CEPEDA... 5 homers.

National League with a .538 average. Strickland, who was out of organized baseball last year, heads the American with a .478 mark.

Al Kaline of Detroit and Elston Howard of New York are right behind Strickland in the batting competition. Kaline is the runner-up with .467 followed by Howard with .423. Reno Bertoia, who moved from Detroit to Washington in a winter transaction, is 4th at .406.

Johnny Antonelli of San Francisco is the majors' leading pitcher with 3 victories in as many starts. Pedro Ramos of Washington and Don Ferrarese of Cleveland are the American League leaders with 2-0.

Veteran Alvin Dark of the Cubs and young Don Demeter of Los Angeles are running 242 in the National League. Dark is at .429 and Demeter at .423. Wally Moon of the Dodgers and Gino Cimoli of St. Louis, who switched uniforms in a winter trade, also are helping their new clubs. Moon is off to a .360 start and Cimoli is batting .353.

Strickland's effective hitting has not been the only surprise to Cleveland manager Joe Gordon. Woody Held, the Indians' 3rd baseman, tops the American League with 5 home runs and 10 runs batted in. Held hit only .204 in 114 games in 1958. And he had only 7 homers.

Kubert and catcher Jim Hermansen. Newcomers who have helped bring SE its first two wins include pitcher-outfielder Dick Harr and second baseman Jeff Roberts, both who skipped track for baseball this year, catcher Clarence Fredrick and sophomores Bill McKinzie.

With improved hitting and continued support of Sieck—who has been the winning pitcher in both SE games—the Knights could go all the way again. All the Knight starters and first-line subs are juniors except Harr, Powell and Fredrick.

Lincoln High has 7 vets back, including a rugged pitcher nucleus of Don Burt, Mickey McGuire and Bill Honor, who also doubles at first base.

Catcher Fred Youngscap, shortstop Phil Gilbert and outfielders Gary Lindholm and Bill Fowles are returnees from last year while new Links include catchers Gaylen Hadley and Henry Heizenrader, pitcher Dewey Sheridan, 1st baseman Harvey Singer, second baseman Dick McCoy, shortstop Jim Scanlon, 3rd basemen Al Nielsen and Doug Osterholm and outfielder Gary Powell.

Burt was superb in pitching the LHS win over Holy Name and McGuire and Honor are expected to do just as well when they are nominated to hurl. But the Links need more hitting and that could be the trouble spot this year.

Northeast, with 19 sophos out of a 29-man squad, lacks experience, but could come along after the young Rockers get some games under their belts.

NE lettermen are catcher LeRoy Bentz (after his 3rd letter), outfielders Bill Janike, Jim Lyons and Bob Haller and 2nd basemen Jim Portsche.

None of the teams is insured of a trip to the state this year, but if they can get a break from the weather, they'll all be trying.

Top Cash To Burke Via A 64

Houston, Tex. (AP)—Jack Burke Jr., playing a course he tramped practically every day as a boy, fired an 8-under-par 64 Monday to beat Julius Boros by 5 strokes in an 18-hole playoff for top money of $4,300 in the $30,000 Houston Golf Classic.

Taking birdies on 6 of the first 8 holes, Burke had a 30-34-64 while winning his home town tournament a second time since 1952. Boros, former National Open champion from Mid Pines, N.C., had a 35-34-69 to pick up second money of $3,000.

Each player also received $435 as his 25 per cent share of the playoff gate receipts.

Burke became only the second player to win the 12-year-old tournament a second time. Cary Middlecoff, who won $1,400 for a 5th place tie at 279, won in 1950 and again in 1953 when he won a 5-way playoff with a 69.

Both Boros and Burke had ended a regulation 72-hole tournament in a tie at 277-11 under par for the 7,133-yard par 72 Memorial Park course.

NU, OMAHA GOLF JUICED

Omaha (AP)—A golf meet between the University of Nebraska and the University of Omaha here Monday was postponed because of rain and wet grounds.

The university said Omaha, Nebraska and Creighton University will take part in a triangular meet at Happy Hollow Country Club here next Monday.

Rain, Cold Spoil NU Grid Drills

Coach Bill Jennings was still looking for a break in the weather as he sent the Nebraska Cornhuskers through a muddy workout Monday, starting the 3rd week of spring football practice.

The Huskers are scheduled for more work Wednesday and Friday and will run through an intrasquad scrimmage Saturday.

Monday's session, hampered by the rain-soaked turf and chilly temperature, was devoted almost entirely to fundamentals, but Jennings indicated there would probably be some squad work Wednesday after he and his staff review the films of last Saturday's scrimmage.

"Right now we're looking for some warmer weather," Jennings said. "We hope things will clear up at least by next week, so we can finish up our drills in good shape."

The Husker spring practice will continue 3 more weeks, culminating in the annual Varsity-Alumni game All-Sports Day May 9.

Happy winner Oksanen... rides from finish.

Kelley Holds Key To Finn's Marathon Win

Boston (AP)—Johnny Kelley, a Groton, Conn., schoolteacher, held the key to the 63rd Boston A.A. Marathon Monday.

"He's the one we had to beat," Eino Oksanen said after his 300 yard triumph over Kelley.

"He's a great competitor," the Red-haired Finn said through an interpreter. "He had a lot to do with the race. Kelley is the one to beat."

Oksanen and former champion Veikko Karvonen, another Finn, were hurried through their showers and hustled out of the crowded dressing room to a hotel immediately after the race.

An interpreter said Oksanen felt very strong at the windup of the race. "He's not tired at all," the interpreter said after the Helsinki detective breezed in at 2:22:42 over the cold, rainy 26 mile, 385 yard course.

"He pulled ahead of me with about a mile and 1/2 to go," said the 28-year-old Kelley, who holds the course record.

"We were running together all the way. In fact, we were so close we locked spokes a couple of times. It was all accidental, of course," Kelley added quickly.

"I was going to try to stay up with him and finish with a kick, but he had some ideas about that, too. "I guess I knew all along that he was stronger than I was," the slim, affable Kelley said. "But about a mile out we hit a little wooden bridge. You had to climb to get over it. That was it. The bridge really told me he had it."

It was the 3rd time Kelley had finished second. He won it with a record time of 2:20:05 in 1957 and was runner-up in 1956 and 1958.

"It was a good field this year," Kelley said. "You always enter a race to win it. But with a field like this you can't be too disappointed."

Jordan's Manager Scoffs At Rumor

... That Champ Chump For Hook

St. Louis (AP)—Don Jordan's manager Monday scoffed at the idea the champion is open for a left hook and predicted Jordan will again be too fast for dangerous but erratic Virgil Akins in their welterweight title fight Friday night.

Manager Don Neseth laughed off an opinion by Benny Deathpaine, a pro fighter 15 years and now a masseur in New York. After watching Jordan work out, he said Jordan is open for a left hook and can be hit with a right.

"Akins throws both of those punches well and I can't see why he shouldn't win by a knockout," Deathpaine said.

Told of this, Neseth said: "If Don is so easy to hit with a left hook, it's a funny thing Akins didn't hit him with one in their first fight. Don isn't open for anything when he's going all out."

Other ex-fighters at ringside differed with Deathpaine's view. The champion showed he has fast hands, excellent speed and can punch well.

Jordan took the title from Akins with a lopsided decision in 15 rounds last December in his hometown of Los Angeles. He stayed on top of Akins and didn't give him punching room—a style which has consistently bothered Akins over the years.

Handlers of the 31-year-old challenger reported he is in the best condition of his career, mentally and physically.

"I've never seen Virgil so geared up," said his co-manager, Eddie Yawitz. "I'm confident he will win and I don't see how Jordan can go the limit."

His trainer, Bill Farrell, said the long-armed slugger "knows the importance of victory in this fight as he has never known it before."

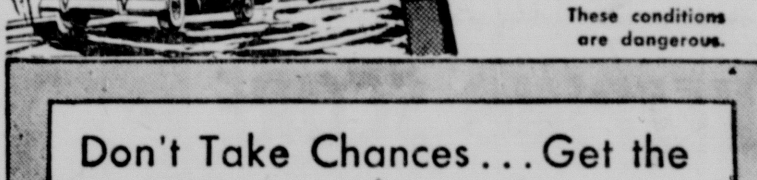

Yawitz and Farrell didn't say it, but it's certain Akins will be facing boxing oblivion if he loses this chance. Promoters will shy away from a veteran with a record of looking like a champion one fight and a chump the next.

What bothers his handlers—although they won't admit it—is that Akins has looked like a chump in every one of his fights since his savage knockout of Vince Martinez for the title last June.

Top Irish Amateur Predicts Cup Win

Dublin (AP) — Ireland's Joe Carr, the best amateur golfer in the British Isles, predicted today that Britain will beat the United States in the Walker Cup match next month.

Then he added: "Furthermore, we had better beat them. It's for the good of the Walker Cup competition that I say that. The Walker Cup is in very, very great danger."

Role of Elder
Carr, at 35, is approaching the role of an elder but still active statesman of golf. The Walker Cup competition is very dear to him. The matches at Muirfield, Scotland May 15-16 will mark his 7th appearance against the Americans.

"We have won only once and that was 21 years ago. The competition is suffering vitally from one-sidedness," Carr said.

"The Walker Cup also is suffering now from competition with the new World Cup tournament which is played for the Eisenhower Trophy."

Knows American Golf
Carr knows American golf and American golfers better than any other player in the British Isles. He has won the British Amateur twice and at one time or another has beaten nearly all the good American amateurs. When Frank Stranahan was an amateur he never beat Carr in 3 meetings.

Carr is more serious about his game, practices more and studies more than other amateur golfers.

"The Walker Cup eventually and inevitably will take a secondary role to the World Amateur championship that is played every other year," Carr said. "No matter what anyone says, the world championship inaugural at St. Andrews last October was the start of what will become a wonderful competition."

Again Next Year
"The World Cup comes up again next year in America. That's one reason why our winning the Walker Cup this year is so important. We've got to win to keep interest high in the face of this new tournament."

Four years ago Britain's Walker Cup selections began picking a team that could win in 1959.

"We almost won at Minneapolis two years ago," Carr recalled, "and it was in America, where we don't play so well. On the final day, after 27 holes of each match, we were in the lead. The temperature was 97 degrees and we wilted."

"Whatever we do at Muirfield, we won't wilt."

'Best We've Had'
"Our team this year of David March, Mike Lunt, Guy Wolstenholme, Arthur Perowne, Ried Jack, Jimmy Walker, Doug Sewell, Mike Bonallack, Alec Shepperson and myself is the best team we've ever had."

The American team is comparatively young and inexperienced. It includes 5 international veterans, Charlie Coe, Bill Hyndman, Billy Joe Patton, Dr. Frank (Bud) Taylor and Harvie Ward, and 4 newcomers, Tommie Aaron, Deane Beman, Jack Nicklaus and Ward Wettlaufer.

Operation Walleye Is Underway

North Platte (UPI) — The Game Commission's "Operation Walleye" is underway here.

It involves gill-netting walleye in Maloney Lake and transporting them to the state hatchery where they are stripped of spawn.

Under artificial means, the eggs are hatched and the resultant fry reared until fingerling size at which time they are released in selected Nebraska waters.

Last year a record 4½ million walleye were propagated at North Platte and subsequently stocked.

This spring's hatch will be planted in Sutherland, Maloney, Jeffrey, Midway, Johnson and Gallagher Canyon reservoirs, all in the Platte River system; Swanson, and Medicine Creek reservoirs in the Republican River system; North Fork of the Elkhorn River; Grove Lake in Antelope County; Dewey Lake in Cherry County; and Burchard Lake in Pawnee County.

Youth Fitness Week May 3-9

Mayor Bennett Martin has proclaimed the week beginning May 3, 1959 as Youth Fitness Week for Lincoln.

In a proclamation, Martin said in part: "I urge Lincoln parents and civic groups to use all appropriate means during that week to promote programs and activities which will better the mental, social, spiritual and physically fitness of the youth of America."

Attending the proclamation signing were Glenn Yaussi of the Lincoln School Board, Lloyd Jenkins of the Lincoln public school system and Ken Dappen, representatives of the state fitness group.

British Govt. Enters Grand National Fight

London (AP) — The British government Monday moved in on the big Grand National Steeplechase controversy.

Home secretary R. A. Butler announced he will meet the national hunt committee, bosses of steeplechase racing in England, April 28 to discuss the Grand National.

Butler's announcement follows mounting public clamor for the gruelling 4 and a half mile race over 30 obstacles to be made easier and safer.

At Aintree this year only 4 of the 34 horses finished the course. Two died as a result of injuries.

The League against Cruel Sports and the Royal Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals promptly called for modifications to the race.

The British government has no power to compel the Grand National organizers to make changes. But if Butler decided some changes were necessary, experts believe the organizers would make them by voluntary agreement.

Jensen Gets Plaque For MVP Selection

Boston (AP) — Boston Red Sox outfielder Jackie Jensen has accepted a plaque as the most valuable American League player of 1958.

Jensen accepted the plaque from Sportscenter Bob Murphy, then told the crowd: "I don't believe any one man is big enough to receive this award, but I would like to thank the Boston Red Sox players and the fans of the finest sports town in America — Boston. I am humbly grateful for this award."

Who are the lonely men who track U.S. missiles after they leave the launching pad at Cape Canaveral? What fears and ambitions bring them to their island hideaways?

In this week's Saturday Evening Post you'll visit these men in their tropical outposts and learn:

- how many of them are "off-beat" wanderers—running away from all sorts of personal problems back home.
- how they go about the tough, treacherous job of recovering nose cones from the shark-infested sea.
- about their occasional "week of revelry" in the fleshpots of South America.

Braves, Pirates Reschedule Games

Milwaukee (AP) — The Milwaukee Braves Monday re-scheduled a postponed game and a tie called by rain with the Pittsburgh Pirates.

General manager John McHale announced that Sunday's postponed game will be played as the second half of a double-header Sunday, July 26, and last Friday's 2-2 standoff with the Pirates will be made up on July 27, an open date on the schedule of both teams.

Injured Man Brings Suit Against NY

New York (AP) — A $250,000 damage suit for negligence was filed in Federal Court today against the New York Yankees and their co-owners, Dan Topping and Del Webb.

Claude O. Price, a 64-year-old resident of Hampton, Va., made the claim that he lost an eye when a ball hit him during the World Series pre-game practice at Yankee Stadium last Oct. 4.

Price said the accident occurred while he attended the 3rd game of the World Series between the Yankees and Milwaukee Braves. He said he was sitting in a first row box near the first base line, and a ball, batted by a Milwaukee player, struck him in the left eye. The injury was so serious, he said, that the eye had to be removed before the final inning of the game.

The suit accused the defendants of "carelessness and negligence." As a result of the accident, Price incurred "lasting injuries" and needed a long hospital treatment, the suit stated.

'Better Hunting' Issue Said Behind Bill Asking Election

... Ogallala Senator Opens Debate At Hearing

"Better hunting" was cited Monday as the motive behind a bill providing for the election of the 7-member Game, Forestation and Parks Commission instead of appointment by the governor.

Sen. Lewis Webb of Ogallala introduced the bill, LB-615, and opened debate at a hearing before the Legislature's Committee on Government.

Action Delayed
The committee delayed action on that bill and another, LB702, which would set an age limit of 65 years on members of election officials.

Sen. Webb said he introduced the bill at the request of hunters and fishermen in his area. He recalled the "good old days" of abundant game birds and said "if we change this thing (the method of selecting game officials) we might get better hunting."

The bill provides that each of the 7 members "shall be nominated and elected in a non-partisan manner" for two-year terms.

Game Commissioners are presently appointed by the governor with the consent of the majority of the Legislature.

Backing Sen. Webb and the bill was W. D. Craig, also of Ogallala, representative of the Association of Western Sportsmen, which he said includes the wildlife clubs from Kearney west, and 4 other witnesses.

The other bill discussed in public hearing would increase the time limits now allowed in conducting elections, and require that election officials be no older than 65 years.

The bill, LB702, was introduced by the Committee on Government, Sen. Dwain Williams of Broken Bow chairman.

Next Discoverer Satellite Will Carry Mice Space Travelers

... To Be Fired In Month Or So

Washington (UPI) — Roy W. Johnson, Defense Department space projects chief, said that the next Discoverer satellite would carry a "biomedical space traveler" and would be launched within a month or so.

Johnson did not specify what he meant by "biomedical space traveler." But a spokesman for the Advanced Research Projects Agency (ARPA), which Johnson heads, said mice would be aboard. The spokesman emphasized he meant "mice in the plural" but did not say how many.

Johnson implied an attempt would be made to eject a capsule bearing the animals and return them to earth.

A capsule bearing only instruments was ejected from the Discoverer II satellite launched April 13. The ejection timing equipment did not function properly, however, and the capsule was not found in the planned recovery area. It was believed to have fallen over the Spitzbergen Islands north of Norway and a search for it is underway there.

'Real First'

Even though the capsule has not yet been found, Johnson said "the United States achieved another real first" with Discoverer II.

"We were not only successful in the goal of being first to stabilize a satellite in orbit but also to eject the capsule from an orbital space trajectory into the atmosphere and return it to earth," he said.

Johnson, speaking to the Republican League of Women Voters of Washington, said the biomedical data to be obtained from Discoverer III would be "very useful" to Project Mercury, the program to put a man into orbit around the earth.

Johnson outlined a number of other space projects.

He said his agency hopes by 1965 to have in operation "a network of instantaneously communicating satellites in 24-hour orbits, 22,300 miles above the earth, complemented by communications satellite in lower orbit to provide a global system."

He said that within two years or so ARPA hopes to have up navigation satellites which would, for example, enable aircraft "to determine their position within four-tenths of a mile."

Antibiotic Lowers Cholesterol Level

New York (AP) — An antibiotic taken by mouth has proved effective in lowering blood cholesterol in 22 patients, a Columbia University doctor said.

Cholesterol is the blood fat, necessary for vital functions, which collects along the inner walls of blood vessels, contributing to heart attacks and strokes.

Using neomycin, an antibiotic, Dr. Alfred Steiner reported he has been able to lower cholesterol levels an average of 21 percent. Kanamycin, an antibiotic related to neomycin, has similar but less effective action.

Dr. Steiner said there was no harmful effect in the neomycin treatment. Patients varied in age from 21 to 72 years.

Medal-To-Dulles Plan Stalled By Demo Move

Washington (AP) — A Republican move to award a Congressional gold medal to John Foster Dulles was reported stalled in the Senate by a Democratic proposal that Dean Acheson be accorded a similar honor.

Republicans agreed unanimously at a closed party conference to offer a resolution to honor Dulles with the highest award Congress gives for distinguished civilian service.

The move was reported initiated by Senate Republican leader Everett Dirksen of Illinois in response to a series of telegrams urging that Congress recognize Dulles' 6 years' service as Secretary of State preceding his resignation last week.

Dirksen and other Republicans felt any such award at this point would cheer Dulles in his fight against cancer.

When Dirksen took his proposal to Senate Democratic leader Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas, Johnson is understood to have referred the matter to chairman J. William Fulbright (D-Ark), chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee.

Fulbright has been critical of Dulles' policies in the past but had urged that the Secretary remain on the job if his physical condition permitted.

Served Truman

The Arkansas senator's first response to the Republican move was reported to have been that if a Republican secretary was to be given one of the medals Congress awards sparingly, Acheson ought to be honored for his services as Secretary of State under former President Harry S. Truman.

The suggestion also was made that Congress honor Gen. George C. Marshall, also seriously ill, for his services as Secretary of State under Truman, Marshall, however, already has received the medal in recognition of his World War II role as Army Chief of Staff.

Dirksen wanted none of this. He was said to have argued that if the award resolution were expanded to include living former secretaries there also would be proposals to add the name of James F. Byrnes, who also served under Truman in a long public career.

With the Democrats showing no immediate disposition to yield, Dirksen pigeonholed his proposal, at least temporarily.

Thefts Admitted

New York (UPI) — A 16-year-old boy admitted he burglarized and set fire to 19 Staten Island homes during weekend leaves from a reform school. He said he stole to get money for drinking sprees.

Police said Frank Curitore was committed to the Warwick State Training School in 1957 for burglary. He had been allowed to visit his home on weekend passes.

Critical Need For Religion —Dr. Greeley

There is a "critical need" today for religion to supply a faith in man and humanitarian service that will save the best in civilization, American Unitarian Assn. President Dr. Dana McLean Greeley of Boston said in Lincoln.

In an address at the Unitarian Church of Lincoln, Dr. Greeley said science and religion must "join forces to prevent race suicide."

"A people without vision will surely perish," he warned. "We need a vision in our time that will persuade and impel us to take to the open road."

The Harvard alumnus said "we cannot pray on our knees on the Sabbath and then prey on our neighbors the rest of the week and still think of ourselves as being religious."

He called for an "adventurous religion filled with faith in the future of freedom and mankind."

Dr. Greeley was made an admiral in the Nebraska Navy. The presentation was made by Madison Brewer, chairman of the Lincoln congregation.

New York (AP) — Chemicals and selected issues showed strength Monday as the stock market climbed to an historic peak for the third straight session.

American Telephone and other issues affected by stock splits went ahead vigorously except for Pfizer whose strong early advance melted under news that first quarter earnings were below those of a year ago.

Zenith, another in the stock split category, proved the day's sensation when it rose ahead 2 1/2 points, most of it in the final hour. The stock closed at 200.

Brokers said that Zenith stock is in the hands of a few big investors and that a sale of borrowed stock with the intention of the seller to buy stock to repay the loan at a cheaper price is being planned.

Monday's was by no means a one-way market as more stocks declined than advanced. The gainers, however, were the majority of key stocks and this put the popular market averages up to further records.

Rails wilted in late selling. A number of other groups were mixed. The Big 100 advanced 1 1/2 points to 200.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks advanced 60 cents to a record 228 1/2. The industrials up $1.60 to a record 200. The rails off 20 cents to 190.

In a broad market of 1,256 issues traded, 489 rose and 352 fell. There were 97 new highs for the year and 19 new lows.

Volume slipped to 3,610,000 shares from 3,670,000 on Friday.

The Dow Jones industrial average was up 1.62 to a record 228 1/2.

Cattle — Slaughter steers steady to 50 cents higher; top $35.

Wheat Futures

Chicago (AP) — Rainfall over the weekend had a bearish effect Monday on rye and new crop wheat futures on the Board of Trade but other grains and soybeans attracted moderate demand.

Corn, oats and all new crop soybean months were ahead as much as major fractions of a cent on buying described partly, at least, as reinstatement of positions that had been liquidated during last week's general decline.

May wheat was up a major fraction but that contract is expected to fluctuate rather independently of the rest of the market for the remainder of its life on the board. Trading in the May deliveries will expire in a month.

Wheat closed 3/4 cent a bushel higher to 1 1/2 lower. May $2.03 1/2; corn 3/8-7/8 higher, May $1.26 1/4; oats 1/4-3/4 higher, May 66 3/4; rye 1/2 lower to 1/4 higher, May $1.40 1/4; soybeans 1/4 lower to 3/8 higher, May 2.27 1/2-28.

Brooks Veto Of Tax Attorneys Bill Overridden By Lawmakers, 33-8

By Betty Person
With little ado, the Legislature voted 33-8 Monday to override Gov. Ralph Brooks' veto of LB684, the bill which authorizes the attorney general to name one or more assistant attorneys general to the office of the tax commissioner. The bill had originally passed 40-0.
Sen. Terry Carpenter of Scottsbluff had made the motion originally last Friday after the governor's veto message was read to the lawmakers, but had deferred action until Monday at the suggestion of Sen. John Aufenkamp of Julian.
Brooks had vetoed the bill on the grounds that since the tax commissioner's office was appointive, the legal officers should also be appointed by the governor.
Recount Differences
Carpenter charged the governor did not want the attorney general to appoint the assistants to the tax commissioner's office due to differences Brooks and Attorney General C. S. Beck have had stemming from the gubernatorial recount.

The Scottsbluff senator said it was "almost self-evident" from the extensive tax laws passed by the Legislature that there will be areas of difference arising between taxpayers and taxing officials about those laws and that prosecution of such cases should be in the hands of the attorney general.
Sen. Michael Russillo of

DELAPLANE'S

The New York weather turned up to an unseasonable 80 degrees when I arrived, jet-propelled in four hours and 45 minutes from San Francisco.
Even the evening was warm when we climbed out of the enormous TWA cabin, all 118 of us. The ground crew assured us that Spring was here. The taxi driver forecast that the buds would be out in Central Park.
There was a fine blare of music under my window on Fifth avenue this morning. And when I looked out, the sky was overcast and a parade was going by the Metropolitan Museum across the street.

There was a line of mounted police. Then the parade marshals and the assistant marshals. They wore black swallowtail coats and carried high silk hats in their hands.
They were followed by floats and marchers and cars full of pretty girls who waved at a rather sparse crowd on the damp sidewalks.
The floats said they were celebrating Puerto Rico's contribution to New York.
"Do they want Statehood?" "Not Puerto Rico," said the doorman. "Way they're fixed now, you go to Puerto Rico you pay no income tax. Forgive and forget, that's their motto. It's just the Spring parade."

Reassured, I went back upstairs and turned on the Spring song. I budded the trees in Central Park. I burst jonquils into bloom. I rolled the typewriter in the daffodils.
I wrote a small prose poem in praise of P. J. Moriarty, the Sixth avenue publican. Then I went down and picked up P. J. himself and we drove out to Connecticut.
The weather was brisk and

POSTCARD

a spatter of rain fell on the windshield.
"You're sure it's Spring?" I asked anxiously.
"No doubt there'll be blossoms in the yard when we arrive," he said.
Halfway up the parkway I noticed the rain was beginning to stick beneath the wiper.
"That wouldn't be snow, would it?"
"In April?" said P. J.
In Westport, we turned off to visit the wooded acres of Gordon Manning, a Newsweek editor. The Manning family was huddled around a fire and the wind blasted us outside the car.
"If it's Spring," I said, "what is all the white stuff in the air?"
"It's a LATE Spring," said P. J. Moriarty.
